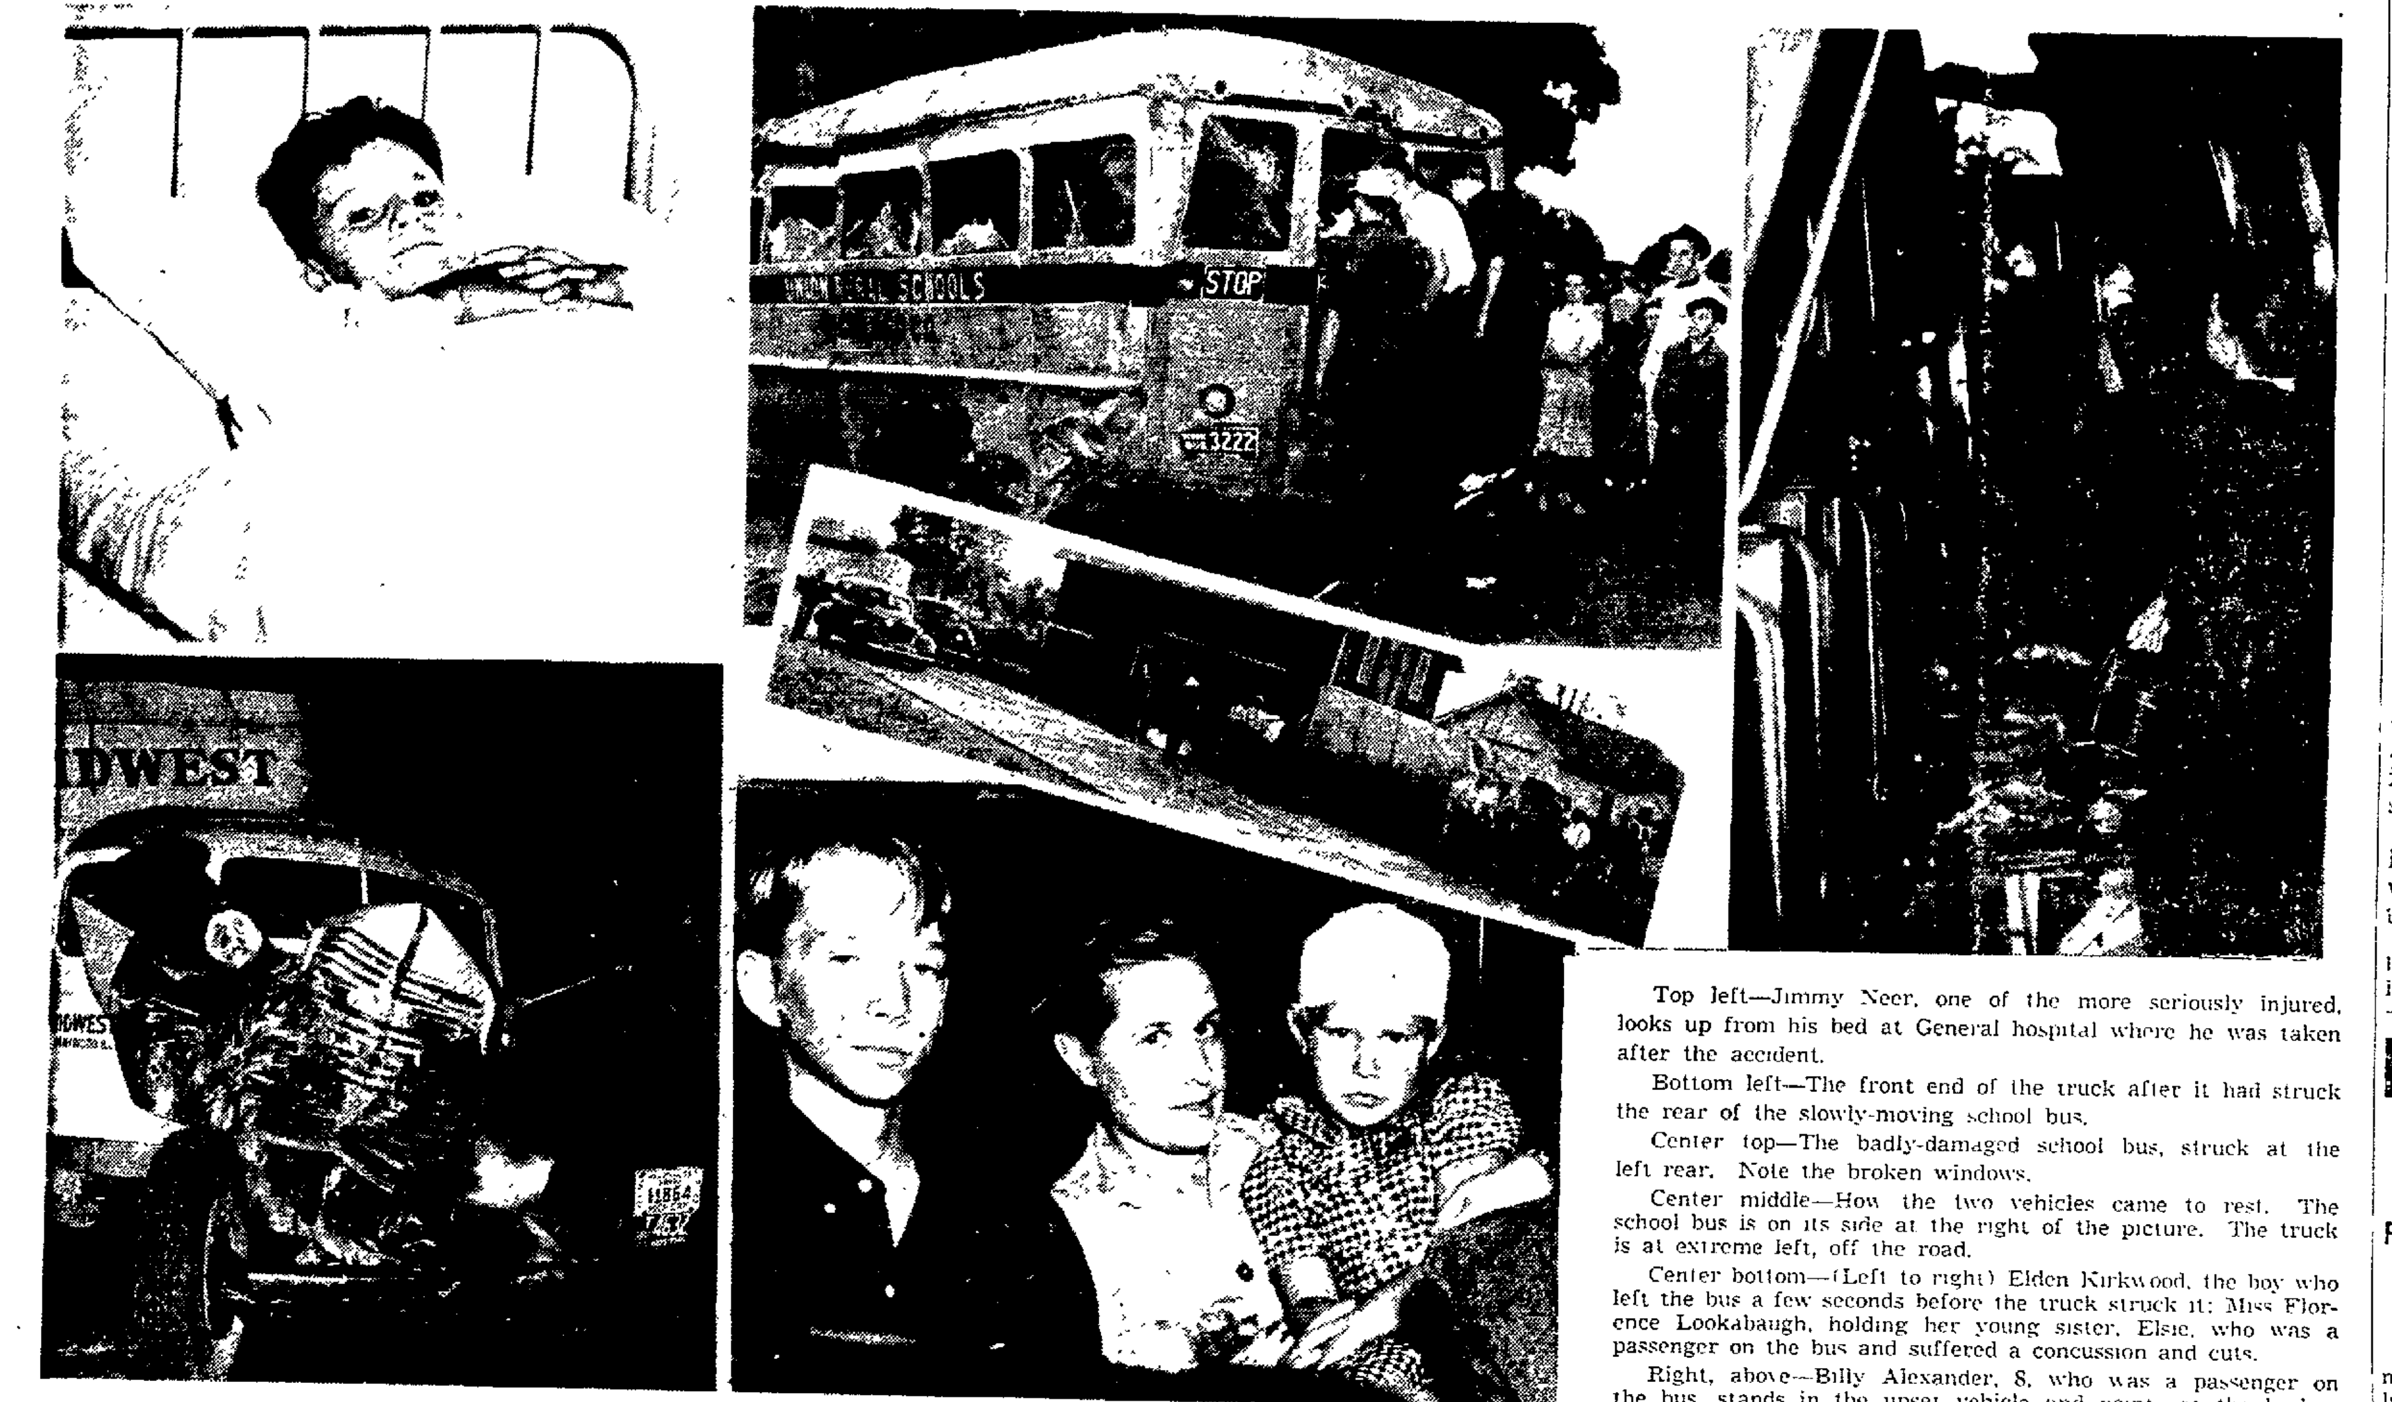
32 MISS DEATH ON SCHOOL BUS

Scenes as Nine Were Injured In School Bus Accident



Top left—Jimmy Neer, one of the more seriously injured, looks up from his bed at General hospital where he was taken after the accident.

Trucker Jailed After Collision Near Mansfield

Nine Pupils Injured, 22 Others Suffer Bruises, Shock As Truck Collides With Rear of Bus, Turning It Over On Side At Shenandoah.

The driver of a truck was in jail today after his truck struck a school bus, giving 31 Richland county school children and the bus driver a narrow brush with death late yesterday, 11 miles north of Mansfield near Shenandoah on State Route 13.

Nine injured children received hospital treatment and the 22 others suffered considerably from bruises and shock when the collision turned the bus over on its side, trapping the youngsters in broken glass and twisted steel.

Hurt most seriously were Billy Dean Neer, 8, and James Neer, 12, R. D. 2 Shiloh, both still in General hospital today with head concussions and cuts and bruises. Their conditions were described by hospital attaches as "fairly good."

Edward Bielen, 24, of Mosinee, Wis., driver of the truck, appeared before Judge C. H. Huston this morning and was charged with reckless driving. Judge Huston continued the hearing until Monday and placed Bielen under a $500 bond.

The affidavit against Bielen was signed by County Prosecutor G. W. Marriott on information submitted to him by State Highway Patrolman W. C. Smith and Deputy Sheriff Glenn Freeman. The affidavit accuses Bielen of driving at excessive speed.

The truck was loaded with a heavy cargo of roofing material, according to the prosecutor.

State highway patrolmen said the accident occurred soon after Harold J. Milligan, 24, of R. D. 1, Mansfield, the bus driver, had stopped at the home of Eldon Kirkwood, 14, to let him out. Milligan had picked up the 31 pupils at schools in Shenandoah, at Union and at Olivesburg only a short time before.

Young Kirkwood told patrolmen that it was about 4:15 p. m. when the bus drove up to his home. He said that after he had left the bus, it started south on route 13, when the truck, also going south, came from behind and struck the bus in the rear.

Bielen told patrolmen later that he was blinded by the sun and did not see the bus.

"The bus just seemed to turn a somersault in the air," the Kirkwood youth said. "I hardly knew what happened until I heard the noise of shattering glass and the screams of the children in the bus."

Father Rushes to Aid.

"I wanted to go and help but I seemed to be rooted to the spot. Then I saw my father come running from the barn with a ladder, and pretty soon I saw Mr. Milligan lift the first one of the injured out of the bus."

"My father ran into the house

Heaviest Raid Pounds Berlin

British Bombs Give Answer To Hitler Threat To Eradicate English Cities; Fires Started.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(INS)—A fleet of 50 German 'planes started bombing the London area indiscriminately late this afternoon.

(By International News Service)

BERLIN—In the heaviest night raid Berlin has yet experienced. British bombers pounded the German capital for nearly three hours today in an attack that raised fiery clouds of smoke over five different sections of the city.

German sources regarded the raid, featured by terrific anti-aircraft fire and the roar of British planes diving at their targets, as British Prime Minister Winston Churchill's reply to Chancellor Hitler's threat to "eradicate" British cities by bombing raids.

The air raid alarms sounded in Berlin at 15 minutes after midnight and the all-clear signal was not given until 3 a. m. (8 p. m. EST, Friday).

One of the areas hit by the R. A. F. bombers was only a 10-minute walk from the reichstag section in the central part of the German capital.

The raid, German authorities said, had all the earmarks of a systematic attack, evidently designed to prove that the British will not be deferred by Hitler's threats of retaliation.

In view of this, Berlin observers believed, the moment is not far off when retaliatory aerial warfare will begin in earnest.

At least 22 Berliners were known to have been wounded in the night attack, and three killed.

PURGE: Adherents of Carol Rounded Up By New Dictator

(By Associated Press)

BUCHAREST, Rumania—General Ion Antonescu, new military dictator of mutilated Rumania, unleashed a sweeping purge of adherents of former King Carol today and swung the nation 100 per cent into line with the Rome-Berlin Axis.

Police rounded up scores of prominent persons regarded as enemies of the pro-Nazi Iron Guard, and the Bucharest press launched unrestrained and venomous attacks on Carol and his red-haired friend, Mme. Magda Lupescu.

Antonescu dispatched especially warm telegrams of allegiance to Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini, who have guaranteed Rumania's shrunken boundaries against further amputation.

The general warned the Rumanian populace that severe punishment would follow any disturbances, and his words had an immediate effect.

Although 10,000 men and women filled the streets near the palace in hopes of catching a glimpse of the new king, Carol's 18-year-old son Michael, the crowds remained quiet and orderly in contrast to previous disorders.

The people appeared well pleased with the ascension of Michael to the throne he once held as boy-king.

Carol's whereabouts since his abdication yesterday remained a mystery despite the statement of official quarters that he boarded the royal yacht at Constanta yesterday to join Mme. Lupescu in exile.

The Bucharest radio announced last night that King Michael's mother, Princess Helen of Greece, divorced wife of Carol, had arrived by plane from Dresden, but the report was not confirmed by other sources.

(Dispatches from Dresden said that Princess Helen still was at a sanitarium there and had not decided whether to accept King

VOTE ON DRAFT LOOMS TONIGHT

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The final house vote on the Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill probably will be taken tonight. One subject for debate remained—the question of industrial co-operation in the defense program.

House leaders called members into session an hour earlier than usual. They had left until last the issue expected to cause the most controversy—some provision to compel co-operation of industry.

Only one amendment of major importance was adopted. That was by Rep. Albert E. Austin, R., Conn., and would prevent the war department from inducting men into the service until adequate housing had been assured for them. The vote was 115 to 95.

Two other amendments that had threatened trouble for the bill were disposed of without difficulty.

One related to the age brackets from which the measure proposes to draw men for compulsory military service. The house bill would make men between 21 and 45 liable for service; the senate, men between 21 and 31.

An effort by Rep. C. Arthur Anderson, D., Mo., to lower the house maximum to conform to the senate was defeated 161 to 47. An attempt by Rep. Edward H. Rees, R., Kan., to raise the regis-

YOUTH KILLED

Two Companions Injured In Crossing Crash.

DELAWARE —(INS)— Sixteen-year-old Glenn Lombard was dead and two companions injured today as the result of a train-auto collision at a private crossing on the farm of Delaware County Commissioner Floyd Griffith, five miles southeast of Delaware.

Clarence Coffee, 14, was critically injured while Robert Ford, 14, suffered lacerations. Lombard, Coffee and Ford were in the back seat of the car. The other youths in the front of the auto escaped injury. All the boys live in nearby Berlin.

LAKEWOOD FLOOD

CLEVELAND—(AP)—A break in a 48-inch main serving much of the west side and suburban Lakewood shut off water service to an estimated 50,000 families for several hours last night. One section was flooded to a depth of two feet before workmen could make repairs.

Tells Story of Bedlam In School Bus Wreck

Driver Says Thoughts of Fire First To Enter His Mind After Truck Hit, Splintering Window Glass.

By GEORGE SATTLER

Harold J. Milligan, bus driver, will never forget the terrified screams of the 31 school children who yesterday lay trapped in a tangled mass of broken glass and twisted steel that once was their school bus.

Nine children were injured and 22 others were shaken up and bruised when the bus was hurled over on its side, 11 miles north of Mansfield near Shenandoah on Route 13 when a truck and trailer rammed it in the rear.

Milligan, trapped himself because the collision jammed all the doors, lifted the screaming and crying youngsters through a broken window to free them from the wrecked vehicle.

He tells this story about what happened:

"I had just let out Elden Kirkwood at his home and started up the road when the truck struck the rear of the bus with a terrible crash and catapulted it through the air on its side.

"The noise of glass shattering as the bus turned over in the road was terrifying. The children screamed as they were thrown into the aisles.

"I don't know what it was, but something prompted me to turn off the ignition. The thought of fire sweeping the bus made my blood run cold.

"When the bus come to a stop on its side, I shouted back from where I lay at the front of the bus to try to stop the screaming bedlam. Two of the older boys tugged on the emergency door but it was jammed.

"The bus was lying on the only other door in the bus. I realized the only way I could get them out was through the window beside the driver's seat.

"Finally I got them quieted

STREET CLOSED

Bowman Intersection Blocked By Paving Work.

With paving of Fourth street delayed further today, the Bowman street intersection was closed to make way for concrete work.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said this morning that he understood that the laying of brick at the east end of the job was to have been started this morning, but at noon no brick had been laid. Carl Stander, president of the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company, the contractor, could not be reached.

Meanwhile Crafton said that North Mulberry street had been re-opened.

Mayor William J. Locke said that the detour, which has been over Penn avenue would be moved today. Traffic will be routed over Route 30S and either route 181, or route 61 further west, to regain 30N at Crestline.

WILLKIE BACKS R.E.A EXPANSION

Hits Defense Trade as Most Dictatorial Presidential Act In History.

RUSHVILLE, Ind.—(AP)—Proposals for expanding the rural electrification program and for a variable system of farm taxation were included today in Wendell L. Willkie's agricultural recommendations.

The Republican presidential nominee offered these suggestions to 70 farm paper editors after telling them that the agreement to trade 50 over-age American destroyers for military bases in British possessions was "the most dictatorial and arbitrary act of any president in the history of the United States."

"If we cannot defeat the dictators through the processes of democracy," said Willkie, "then it will prove that the democratic way is not the effective way."

The editors' conference yesterday brought from the candidate

ITALIANS ORGANIZE AIR RAID DEFENSE

Organization Formed Under Duce's Leadership.

ROME—(INS)—Under the chairmanship of Premier Mussolini, the Italian council of ministers today created a national air raid defense organization.

Under this decree the government will compel speedy establishment of air raid protective measures in all public and private industrial establishments, deposits, and warehouses.

The council also authorized an increase in funds for payment of war damages sustained by private [illegible]. Another decree established government control of schools and cultural institutions conducted by foreigners.

RED PETITION CHECK DELAYED

Fail to Arrive at Election Board For Verification; Other Petitions Here.

With Richland county's Communist petitions delayed in Columbus while copies are made for the Dies committee, the county election board today began checking three Socialist and Socialist-Labor party petitions which were circulated in the county.

The petitions were returned here from the secretary of state so the election board can determine whether all the signers are registered voters.

A. F. Porter, clerk of the board, said they would be ready to send back to the secretary of state for final approval Monday.

Two Socialist petitions, seeking to nominate a national and state ticket headed by Norman Thomas for president, had a total of 26 signatures. The petitions were circulated by James E. McKee, 290 Ohio street, Mansfield, and Louis A. Golden of Cleveland.

There were 21 signatures on the Socialist-Labor petition which was circulated and filed by Angel Gligoroff, Mansfield. The petition would place a slate of candidates on the ballot, headed by John W. Aikens, Chelsea, Mass., for president.

While copies of the Communist

'VIOLATION'

French Charge Chinese With Crossing Border.

VICHY—(U.P.) Chinese troops Thursday violated the French Indo-China-China frontier but were forced by French troops to flee after a "fierce fight," official French dispatches from Hanoi said today.

The fight occurred along the Red river and one French soldier was killed and 10 were wounded, a communique said.

(Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Chungking government had warned formally that Chinese troops would invade French Indo-China to combat Japanese forces if the French permitted the Japanese to pass through the French colony to attack Chinese on the Yunnan border. Far East dispatches reported that the French agreed to allow the Japanese passage over the Haiphong-Yunnan railway.)

Repair Crews On City Streets Get Payless Vacations

With city street department funds drained by an unusual amount of repair work due to water line breaks early this year, officials today prepared to inaugurate payless vacation days for 40 employes in the department.

Mayor William J. Locke said this morning that 20 class A and B workers in the department would be notified today of a two-week layoff. On their return to the payroll Sept. 23 the other half of the force will be subject to two-week vacation, he added.

The mayor declared that the layoffs were due to the limited fund in the street department. He said "drastic" measures had to be taken to keep the operating expense within the appropriation, and that payless vacations would continue on an alternating basis unless council provided additional funds.

City records show that $21,730 was spent during the first seven months of this year for street repair, about $1,700 more than for the same period in 1939.

A total of $34,000 was appropriated for 1940 repair work leaving about $12,000 to cover payrolls for five remaining months. This means that the monthly payroll of approximately $3,200 must be cut in half to keep within the appropriation.

Travel In Armchair With Sunday News-Journal

WITH vacations over, the season of armchair travel has returned for most Mansfielders and the Sunday edition of The News-Journal is really going to get you around.

First, there's a fascinating interview by Marianne Springer with a young Mansfield woman who has just returned from South Africa where the sun keeps to the northern sky and streamlined skyscrapers contrast with native huts.

WOMEN DRIVERS

Of course lady drivers won't bother you on an armchair tour but what they think of men drivers and the records several of them have piled up, driving everything from heavy trucks to school buses, make interesting reading. Olive Gresmer brings you their story.

Particularly timely in view of the school bus accident near Shenandoah, Friday is Virgil A. Stanfield's interview with a veteran school bus driver with an enviable safety record in the Mansfield-Madison area.

REFUGEE TALES

With George Sattler as your guide, you can go into the heart of Germany in turmoil. For the Sunday edition brings you the intimate stories of two outstanding refugees who have taken haven from Nazi persecution in Mansfield.

And by way of diversion, take a run over the H. E. Rupp farm with Harold Valentine and his camera in another article in the City Farmer series.

Walk in on a costume dinner party of years ago when the service on a Mansfield table was solid silver inherited from English nobility. There are pictures of the party in the Do You Remember series.

There's plenty more armchair pleasure too in the short story, colored comics, society, and women's page news, cross quiz puzzle, and comment by noted columnists.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULES

And for gridiron fans the sports pages bring you full schedules of the Mansfield high Tygers, all county schools, clubs, and the North Central Ohio conference teams.

Congress Foes Attack F.D.R. Secrecy Over Defense Trade

VOICE CHARGE 'DICTATORIAL' METHODS USED

Demand Diplomatic Maneuver With England Be Given Full Publicity.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Congressional foes of President Roosevelt's foreign policies today called loudly on the administration to make public at once details of the secret negotiations which led to the trade of 50 destroyers for naval bases on British possessions in this hemisphere.

At the same time, however, house Democratic leaders staunchly defended Mr. Roosevelt's announcement that these details would not be given to the public for ten years—under the state department's traditional rule that foreign negotiations be kept secret until they become "history."

Demanding that the diplomatic conversations between this country and England be publicized, Rep. Fish (R) N. Y., leading house isolationist, charged "the whole thing was a rotten, high-handed dictatorial disregard of American principles.

"If the president can give away 50 ships he can give away the whole navy," Fish declared. "The people have a right to know just how this all came about."

Sen. Nye (R) N. D., isolationist leader of the upper house, said he would bet "it won't take ten years for the game the president is playing to become known generally."

The North Dakotan said "the people will be satisfied with nothing less than a complete unfolding of these methods short of war which have now become leaps and bounds toward war."

Rep. Luther Johnson (D) Tex., ranking Democrat on the house foreign affairs committee, meanwhile, announced he would soon make a speech defending the president's stand.

"He is clearly within his rights," Johnson averred. "It is a long established and proper precedent in our country that such things should not be disclosed until they can cease to embarrass any other country."

Rep. Marcantonio (A-L) N. Y., likened the president's stand to that of European dictatorships.

"In Germany they have a system too that the people aren't told anything until Hitler wants them to know," he declared.

Rep. Edith Rogers (R) Mass., a member of the foreign affairs committee, and Rep. Maas (R) Minn., ranking GOP on the house naval affairs committee, both demanded that "at least the major part" of the negotiations be made public.

Passengers On Airliner Given Scary Landing

DAYTON — (AP) — Sixteen passengers of a Transcontinental and Western Airways transport plane were safe today after a trying experience in which they remained aloft until ambulances were rushed to the flying field for fear their ship might crack up in landing.

A big TWA liner bound from Detroit to Cincinnati reported over the nearby Vandalia airport that a tire was believed flat and asked that ambulances be brought to the scene as a precautionary measure.

The plane landed without a hitch and F. P. Koupal of St. Louis, first officer, said: "We heard what sounded like an explosion and believed one of the tires had blown out. After landing we found a splotch of blood on the fuselage and believe now that a bird must have hit the ship making the noise."

The plane continued its scheduled flight.

G. O. P. MEETING SET

COLUMBUS — (UP) — The Republican state convention will meet definitely in Columbus on Wednesday, Sept. 18.

The date was approved formally by the state central and executive committee which also elected Marion F. Graven, Wooster, to its membership to succeed the late Walter Ruff, Canton.

Up and Down THE STREET

Harvey Truman had been telling his neighbors on Park avenue east that he was raising some "mighty fine cucumbers" in his garden on the James M. Reed farm near Lucas, but that didn't prepare them for the double surprise he brought home the other morning. In fact they probably wouldn't have believed him if he had said that he had a cucumber weighing two pounds, seven ounces and measuring 12 inches long and 10 and a half inches in circumference. But that's what he had—as well as another, almost as large, that weighed a pound and fifteen ounces. Truman says the "pickles" were raised from ordinary seed.

The feudin' in the police department took on a new slant today with three patrolmen in the running for top honors as the department's best pistol shot. At the end of the second round of a six-weeks match Patrolman C. W. Kyler dropped to fourth place and Patrolman George Yoakum topped the list with Patrolmen Paul Martin and William Colby pressing hard for first place.

* * *

Warner Peterson, Mansfield tennis champion, is also quite a baseball fan, so when he went to Union county this week to teach school he had to figure out some way to keep up with the broadcast of the Cleveland Indians' games. "Fortunately, there's a radio at a filling station just across the street from the school, and at recess time I send the boys and girls out to the playground and then run over to get an idea of how the game is going," Peterson said. "After school is out I can get right back to the radio again for the rest of the game."

* * *

A cat that sneaked into a Mansfield theater yesterday appeared puzzled about the activity on the screen and rambled up and down the aisles for several minutes before climbing to the balcony, possibly to get a better view of what was going on, or maybe just to curl up in a corner and sleep where there wasn't so much traffic in the aisles.

DYING UNIONIST REVEALS RACKET

Says Gangsters Seized Power and $30,000 of Funds; Planned 3 Murders.

(By United Press)

CHICAGO — State's Atty. Thomas J. Courney said today Mathew Taylor, president of a Chicago elevator operators union, admitted in an affidavit before he died that gangsters had seized his union four years ago, forced him to pay $30,000 in union funds under threats of death and instigated the murders of three labor racketeers.

Taylor's statement charged that Louis (Little New York) Campagna, identified as a gangster, had attempted in 1937 to buy out control of his elevator operaters and starters AFL union for $50,000 on behalf of Thomas J. Burke, vice president of the building service employes international union and that when he refused the gangsters had started a campaign to wrest the union he had controlled 35 years from him.

Taylor died at a Naperville, Ill., sanitarium yesterday. Courtney called 20 leaders of the elevator employes' union to his office last night and read Taylor's statement to them. He offered to help them re-establish the union and "protect decent, legitimate unions from racketeers."

Taylor's 65-page typewritten statement told how his union had been transferred from one international to another because George Scalise, former president of the building service employes international now on trial at New York on charges of grand larceny of union funds, had brought pressure upon AFL executives.

OHIO LOWEST IN ENLISTMENT AVERAGE DURING PAST YEAR

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Ohio was lowest among the states in average voluntary enlistments in the country's fighting forces during the 1940 fiscal year, figures submitted to congress showed today.

The legislative reference service of the library of congress reported that enlistments per 100,000 population in the Buckeye state totaled 65 compared with the national average of 133.

Ohio also ranked well below states of comparable size with only 4,326 enlistments compared with 14,670 from Texas, which ranked first; 14,586 from Pennsylvania, in second place, and 11,092 from New York, third.

Kentucky, with 7,326, had the highest average, 280 per 100,000 population. Only two states other than Ohio had an average lower than 70, Michigan and Minnesota.

If congress approves selective military service and a quota policy established by the joint army and navy selective service committee, the number of men to be drafted in each state might be affected substantially by the number of Ohioans already in the armed forces.

Major Ben R. Howell explained that this policy provided that "the quota basis of the nation shall be the number of men available for service, including those men already in the service."

Each state and each community, the letter added, would be credited with the number of men who would enlist.

PASTOR RETURNS

Rev. Boyer Named to Church Here Another Year.

Rev. James L. Boyer will return to Mansfield as pastor of the First United Brethren church for another year as the result of appointments made today at the 55th annual conference of the United Brethren church at Canton.

Other pastor appointments in the Ashland district, which includes Mansfield, are Rev. Robert Airhart at Paradise Hill; Rev. J. P. Slaughter, Lakefork; Rev. P. M. Redd, Ashland; Rev. S. L. Postlethwait, Nova.

Before adjourning, delegates to the conference adopted a resolution urging that conscientious objectors to military conscription register with the board of Christian education at Dayton.

Sawyer Pledges Support to Davey Race

DURBIN CHEERS HARMONY NOTE OF DEMOCRATS

Way Cleared For Sales Tax Repeal and $40 Pension In Party Platform.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—A Democratic resolutions committee whipped into final shape today a platform for the 1940 Ohio campaign and informed sources indicated it would be a document formally acknowledging former Gov. Martin L. Davey's undisputed leadership of the state organization by working for his favorite planks.

Buoyed by National Committeeman Charles Sawyer's declaration that he would support the entire state ticket, Davey said there was no serious opposition to his proposals that the party advocate repeal of the sales tax and guarantee $40 monthly incomes for aged persons.

Sawyer, who defeated Davey's 1938 bid for renomination and used the party organization to oppose him in the primary this year, declared at last night's Democratic state convention that he wanted to answer questions asked about his "attitude toward the ticket" in this campaign.

"We hear occasionally of those who 'sit down' or 'take a walk' and of people who 'run out' on their ticket," Sawyer asserted. "In answer to queries as to my attitude in this campaign, my answer is 'I am a good soldier. I intend to support the ticket."

The delegates earlier cheered Sawyer's inclusion of Davey's name in his salutation to the convention. The former governor sat on the platform, his first appearance at the convention. He and Sawyer nodded to each other as they made their appearance but there was no conversation between them.

Sawyer's declaration was immediately hailed by Francis W. Durbin of Lima, candidate for representative-at-large, as the crowning evidence of harmony within the party.

The convention's opening session Friday afternoon was devoted to a series of harmony speeches designed to end the bitter Sawyer-Davey feud that was held responsible for the party's crushing defeat in 1938.

Rep. T. V. Smith (D.-Ill.), urging Democrats to acknowledge freely that renomination of President Roosevelt for a third term shattered a precedent because of "a momentous crisis," charged the Republican party violated an even sterner tradition in naming a candidate "committed to the interests of big business" instead of choosing some one "impartial."

SCHOOL CLOSED

One-Room Building at Ganges To Be Abandoned.

A one-room school at Ganges was doomed last night by the Richland county board of education which transferred most of the Ganges district to Shelby.

About 20 parents from the district, still stunned by the school bus accident which injured nine pupils in their community, attended a hearing at the courthouse preceding the county board meeting.

A number protested against the transfer. A petition bearing 47 signatures, favoring the transfer, had already been submitted to the county board.

Boyd Robinson, county superintendent, said the Ganges school will be closed Monday. Approximately 16 pupils will be offected by the transfer, with all but six of them going to Shelby. The others will be taken to the Pleasant Grove school in the Union district.

Not That It Matters

A Glimpse of Robbinsville Where Vacationing Writer Can 'Get Away From It All'

—By JANE WILLIAMS

Joyce Kilmer Inn,
Robbinsville, N. C.

THIS is Robbinsville: Not as you would see it, just passing through the mountains going from Chattanooga east to Asheville, but as I see it after having spent the day in its tiny wooden courtroom crowded with folks from the hills, visiting the Snowbird school which the government operates for the Cherokees, standing on the stone terrace of the inn, and looking across the bowl-like valley to where the Snowbird range of the Great Smokies meets the sky.

You drive for miles and miles over unbelievably crooked roads wondering whether you'll ever come to a town or a filling station. You pass one-room shacks and cabins, half hidden in the dense foliage of the mountains. You pass Lake Santeetlah, a blue-green shimmer of water hemmed in by towering smoke-blue mountains and then quite quite suddenly, you come upon a little town.

There are just three outstanding buildings in the town and they completely dominate it—but there seems to be no relationship between any of them. There is a modern, up-to-date, stone high school building, which is in sharp contrast to the old, ugly, yellow wooden courthouse, the only wooden one left in North Carolina. Directly across the street from the county building is a long, low, white building which is the inn, standing on a high hill and a white retaining wall which seems to turn eternally amazed and supercilious eyes on the old courthouse.

* * *

THE September term of court opened here yesterday morning and when we came into town, the courthouse yard was filled with people from the town and from the surrounding hills. The grand jury had just indicted two men for murder and there were a dozen or so other cases.

After the session closed for the day I wandered over to the yard. My companion pointed out a stooped old man in blue overalls. "That's the man they just indicted for murder," he said. "He murdered his son in a quarrel over the boy's birth certificate."

A girl standing beside us, turned uninterested eyes on us and said, with the slightest touch of scorn "Tweren't a murder. Twere just a knifin'."

* * *

THIS morning the McKinleys and I sat in the stuffy, crowded courtroom and listened to the trial of a man who had bitten the ear off another in a fight. (The petit jury follows immediately after the grand jury. A circuit judge sits in all of the cases regardless of their classification).

The defendant, it seems, has a penchant for biting when he gets into fights. The prosecuting attorney had a cousin stand up to show the jury where the accused had bitten out a chunk of his cheek once in a fight. The defendant, on the witness stand, chewed gum furiously, rolled down his socks as he talked and gestured to illustrate his testimony.

"I never bit him nowheres, no time. He said 'Throw away that old pistol you got in your pocket and I'll whup yuh.' I wasn't aimin' to take no challenge like that, so I throwed away my little old pistol what I had in a little ole paper bag in my side pocket. I grabbed a holt of his left leg in my arms like this and he pecked me on the head with a mean ole black jack."

An attorney asked him how many times his opponent "pecked" him and he chewed his gum thoughtfully, and then said:

"I don't spect I know just how many times he did peck me, but it musta bin about six pecks 'cause I had six bumps on my head 'bout the size of a hen's egg. That made me awful mad—but I never did bite him no time, nowheres."

* * *

AN INTERESTING bit of testimony by the sheriff revealed that he was a witness to the entire incident. He testified that he had seen the accused throw away his pistol and had picked it up. The prosecuting attorney jumped up and yelled: "Do you mean to say you saw this whole thing, saw these men start to fight, and did nothing at all to stop it?"

The sheriff looked slightly pained as he crossed his long legs, shifted his tobacco from one side of his face to the other and said gently:

"I done just that. I figgered tweren't none o' my business."

* * *

LATE this afternoon while the jury was deliberating the ear-biting case, another case, of assault with intent to rape, was started. The handsome, impeccably dressed judge looked around the court room, explained the nature of the case and that there would be some very frank testimony. "If there are any ladies in the court, I am sure they will leave the room before the case starts."

There was an uneasy rustle of feminine skirts but no one moved. Without batting an eye, the judge said:

"There being no ladies present, we will proceed with the case."

* * *

A GENERAL STORE across the street from the Inn and the courthouse has signs across the front which tells passersby that it has - "Feed, Fertilizer, Caskets, Coffins, Dry Goods, Furniture and Groceries." The difference between a casket and a coffin, the proprietor will tell you is that the former is for prosperous citizens, while the latter is for the poor folks.

* * *

OUTSIDERS who come to these mountains to live are "furriners" while people who come to spend a week or two are "touristers." If you wear a wrist watch you are a "rich tourister."

* * *

THE INN is named for the soldier-poet who wrote "Trees" and a forest of age-old trees, some of them with trunks 12 feet in diameter and rising 180 feet with a "nest of robins in their hair," form a memorial for the poet . . . Around the inn are de luxe cottages sealed in wormy chestnut, furnished in blond oak, with venetian blinds and all of the comforts of a modern hotel . . . Operated by two former Mansfielders who are having the time of their lives down here. . . . There is a waitress, a girl who looks and talks exactly like Katharine Hepburn playing Southern girl. She is from the hills but assures me she will never marry a "hill-billy." . . . There are less than 300 people in this town and less than 6,000 in the county, but there are more than 1,500 school children . . . The Bemis Lumber company, the second largest hardwood company in America, is the one big industry. Has 7,000,000 feet of lumber piled in its yards. . .

POUND BERLIN WITH HEAVIEST ATTACK OF WAR

British Bombs Give Answer To Hitler's Threat to Eradicate Cities.

Most of the victims were civilians. In addition a number of workmen's homes were wrecked.

It appeared that the raid was directed chiefly against the Berlin garrison barracks in the Moabit sector of the capital northwest of the reichstag, but many incendiaries hit the neighboring criminal courts building, starting a bright blaze on the top floor.

One official was killed and two others were injured when the ceiling collapsed. Prisoners detained in the building were taken downstairs to air raid cellars before the bombs fell.

Visiting the various sections that were bombed, I found the Lehrter railway station — from which one entrains from Berlin en route to America—lighted by flames in the rear. A small warehouse in the adjoining freight yards half a mile from the station had been hit by incendiary bombs. Oddly enough, empty candy boxes were stored in the warehouse.

Late this morning gangs of workmen were still feverishly repairing damages in the Lehrter station area and other districts struck by bombs. All dud and suspected time bombs dropped by the British were removed.

A mile north I found the top story of a six-floor radio factory burning after being hit by incendiaries.

A semi-official summary of the raids on Berlin and elsewhere in Germany stated that only a few British planes penetrated the Reich, and that part of these flew over southeastern Germany.

It added that anti-aircraft batteries forced British planes which appeared over Potsdam and Spandau, west of Berlin, to turn back. Similar attacks near Magdenburg, Hannover and in the Ruhr area also were beaten off, it was claimed.

"At midnight," the statement said, "12 British planes penetrated Germany from Holland at intervals of five or ten minutes. Some of these pierced the Berlin air defenses, flew over the city and planlessly dropped bombs."

Germans Attack With New Fury.

LONDON—(AP)—German bombers, after giving London its worst day and night in the air, took up the attack against Britain with renewed fury today, roaring down on England in the northwest, the southwest and the southeast, but stayed clear of the capital itself.

Thirty Nazi planes, approaching an airfield in the southeast, were turned back by anti-aircraft fire.

Damage in the northwest was confined mainly to broken windows when bombs fell in a village and near a cemetery.

High explosive and incendiary bombs were showered on the coast by a formation which swept overhead just before dawn in a thunder of anti-aircraft fire.

London itself, which experienced six air raid alarms — a record—between dawn yesterday and midnight last night, was quiet during the early morning hours as Adolf Hitler's war birds struck at scattered objectives elsewhere.

A communique this morning said damage and casualties were generally "slight." Most of the night attacks came before midnight and were centered on London and northwest towns.

Industrial buildings and houses were damaged in eastern and southern districts of London. Water and gas mains and roads were damaged. Some persons were killed and others injured. A hospital was among the buildings struck.

Fires started during the previous raid were still burning when the Germans swept over the city for the sixth time in less than 18 hours. Several additional blazes were set by bombs which the last wave of raiders dropped in a crowded area, but the casualties were believed relatively small.

The Germans employed a new technique in their attacks on the London area during the night, dropping flares in chains to illuminate the capital with an eerie light before unloading their bombs.

Several scream bombs were dropped by the raiders, their high-pitched shriek rising high above the hammering of anti-aircraft guns.

Italian Bombers Raid Holy Land.

ROME — (INS) —A new Italian bombing raid in the Holy Land and other raids in North Africa were announced today by the Italian high command in a military bulletin which said:

"Our aviation again bombed oil equipment in the center of Haifa (Palestine), causing extensive fires.

"In North Africa our air formations bombed the railroad between Alexandria and Mersamatruh. Upon being attacked by enemy chasers, our bombers shot down two British Glosters and three others probably were shot down.

"In the Red Sea an enemy tanker was sunk by one of our submarines.

"Our aviation bombed a convoy of ships escorted by three cruisers, seriously damaging two ships and one cruiser. All our planes returned."

RESOLUTION NO. 40-140

By Mr. Kyle:

Declaring it necessary to improve Overlook Avenue and alley running west of Overlook Avenue, to-wit: Beginning at a sanitary sewer in the City Park south east of Maple Lake and running south through Inlot No. 11296 to the center of Overlook Avenue, thence east in the center of Overlook Avenue to Inlot No. 11303, beginning in Inlot No. 11296 and running in a north westerly direction across Inlots No. 11295 and No. 9673 and in an alley to Inlot No. 9666 by the construction of an 8 inch sanitary sewer therein.

Be it Resolved by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, Three-Fourths of all Members elected thereunto concurring.

SEC. 1.—That it is necessary to improve Overlook Avenue and alley running west of Overlook Avenue, to-wit: Beginning at a sanitary sewer in the City Park south east of Maple Lake and running south through Inlot No. 11296 to the center of Overlook Avenue, thence east in the center of Overlook Avenue to Inlot No. 11303, beginning in Inlot No. 11296 and running in a north westerly direction across Inlot No. 11295 and No. 9673 and in an alley to Inlot No. 9666 by the construction of an 8 inch sanitary sewer therein.

SEC. 2.—That the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of the proposed improvement heretofore prepared by the City Civil Engineer and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service, be and the same are hereby approved.

SEC. 3.—That the whole cost of said improvement, less one-fiftieth of the total cost in proportion to the benefits resulting from the improvement shall be assessed upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit: all lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specifically benefited by said improvement; and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of printing, publishing and serving the necessary legal notices, the printing and publishing of the necessary resolutions and ordinances, the cost of construction and inspection together with interest on bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments, and all other necessary expenditures.

SEC. 4.—That the assessments so to be levied shall be paid in three annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as borne by the bonds to be issued therefor; provided that the owner of any property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty days from and after the passage of the assessing ordinance in which case said cash assessment shall not include any item of interest upon bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred installments of assessments.

SEC. 5.—That bonds of the City of Mansfield shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

SEC. 6.—That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement, not specially assessed, together with the cost of any real estate or interest therein, purchased or appropriated, and the cost and expense of any appropriation proceeding therefor, and the damages awarded any owner of adjoining or abutting lands and interest thereon, and the cost and expense of such award shall be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio, in the manner provided by law.

SEC. 7.—This resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

JAPANESE WARN UNITED STATES

Anglo-American Co-operation In Far East 'Unwelcome' To Nipponese.

TOKYO —(INS)— The Japanese press today published stern warnings to the United States and Great Britain that Anglo-American co-operation in the Far East is "unwelcome" to Japan.

The newspaper Asahi Shimbun warned against any "extension of Anglo-American co-operation in the Pacific or the crystallization of such co-operation into pressure against Japan's action in establishing a great new east Asiatic sphere for the common prosperity of the Asiatic peoples."

This warning followed disclosure that both the United States and Great Britain had made diplomatic representations to Japan against disturbance of the status quo in French Indo China. Japan has been seeking to extend its control of that French colonial position since the defeat of France by Germany.

CAROL FRIENDS PURGED BY NEW RUMANIAN RULE

Rounded Up By Scores Under Order of Dictator as Ex-King Departs.

Michael's invitation to return to Bucharest.

The Bucharest newspapers, released from censorship, pulled no punches in attacking Carol. Iron Guard sentiment was at a new high. Radio stations played the guard hymn from noon to midnight yesterday. Almost every shop window was plastered with pictures of Corneliu Codreanu, Iron Guard fuhrer who was slain in 1938. Iron Guardist newspapers sold by the tens of thousands and littered the pavements from one end of Bucharest to the other.

Informed quarters said Antonescu's cabinet likely would be chosen entirely from the ranks of the Iron Guard, whose threats of revolution spurred Carol's abdication.

Derby Replaces Crown for Carol.

BUCHAREST—(U.P.)—Abdicating King Carol II went into exile today after being warned by Premier Gen. Ion Antonescu that failure to quit the throne created danger of civil war and foreign occupation of Rumania.

Carol departed by train early this morning wearing a derby hat and a dark suit and accompanied by about 15 men in civilian dress. There were no women in the party and the whearabouts of the king's mistress, Magda Lupescu, was unknown although she may have boarded the train outside the city.

The departure of the former king was lacking in the pomp that marked most of his career.

He was red-eyed from weeping and was described as a broken man.

He left only a few hours before the return from exile of his divorced wife, Queen Helena, en route by airplane from Dresden, Germany, to live at the palace with her son, the new 18-year-old King Michael. Carol had bid Michael a tearful, affectionate farewell last night.

It was understood that visa difficulties had delayed Carol's departure from 8 o'clock last night to 2 a. m. today, and that this accounted for the fact that few of the usually well informed persons knew where he was going.

Carol's special train headed west. Official spokesmen said Carol had been promised safe conduct when he abdicated and that policemen were escorting him to the frontier.

At 10 a. m. (3 a. m. EST) the schedule of the Simplon express line took the train through Craiova, where Rumanian and Bulgarian negotiators are discussing the cession of Rumania's southern Dobrudja province, the third of the Rumanian territorial losses which brought on the crisis. Russia took Bessarabia and north Bukovina provinces two months ago and Hungary is now occupying upper Transylvania.

Bulgaria Takes Rumanian Slice.

SOFIA, Bulgaria — (U.P.) — Premier Bogdan Filoff announced in a radio broadcast today the settlement of Bulgarian claims on the Dobrudja area of Rumania.

The agreement was signed at Craiova, on the frontier, this afternoon, the premier said.

Cession of south Dobrudja to Bulgaria—which lost the territory in the World war — had been predicted as a result of the Vienna accord, which gave half of Rumanian Transylavania to Hungary.

A settlement with Bulgaria was expected to complete the dismemberment of Rumania under guidance of the Axis powers, with Soviet Russia, Hungary and Bulgaria taking slices of the kingdom.

The entire Rumanian province of Dobrudja is 9,000 share miles, but Bulgaria centered her claims on the smaller southern section in which live about 140,000 Bulgarians and 80,000 Rumanians.

The premier said that the Bulgarian army would enter this section on Sept. 18.

Bulgaria agreed to pay Rumania an indemnity of about $4,000,000 to cover loss of crops and the Rumanian government will pay certain indemnities to Bulgaria. The two accounts will about balance each other, it was stated.

Hear Magda Goes With Ex-King.

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— A German wireless broadcast heard in New York today said that Ex-King Carol of Rumania left Bucharest for Switzerland by train at 4 a. m. Saturday. It was said that Carol would remain a month in Switzerland and then go to a Riviera villa. The broadcast said that Carol was accompanied by 39 persons, including Mme. Magda Lupescu, her father, and Ernst Urdarinu, former minister of the court.

PRESBYTERIANS TO HOLD UNITY SERVICE SUNDAY

First and United' Churches To Hear Rev. Ford Preach At First Church.

Because of Rev. D. N. Roller's absence, the First Presbyterian and the United Presbyterian churches will hold a united service at the First Presbyterian church, with Rev. H. H. Ford preaching the morning service.

His subject will be "The Voice of Wisdom," and special music will be presented by a quartet composed of Jane Weuthrick, Mrs. C. O. Anglin, Leo Hans, and Paul Watts. Miss Weuthrick will also sing the offertory.

Rev. Roller was called out of the city this week because of the illness of his father.

AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Dr. Millard Brelsford of Granville will occupy the pulpit of the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday morning at the 10:30 service.

Junior choir rehearsal has been set for 3:45 p. m. Thursday, with prayer meeting scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Wallace Campbell will lead the meeting.

The Baptist association will meet at Loudonville Sept. 11 at 9:30 p. m.

Rev. Albert L. Linder, the new pastor, will preach his first sermon on Oct. 6.

PLAN CORN ROAST

The Men's Work organization of the Church of the Brethren will be guests of Howard Kissel at his home six miles north of Mansfield on the Cressrown road at a corn and wiener roast Wednesday at 7 p. m. Annual election of officers will take place at this time. Men are asked to bring their wives as guests to the affair.

The annual business meeting of the congregation will be held in the church Friday at 7:30 p. m. Reports of committees and boards for the past year will be read and plans for the coming year will be made. The annual election of officers for the church and Sunday school will be held at this time.

The Women's Work organization will meet in the church Thursday at 10 a. m. for an all-day meeting. This will be the annual re-organization meeting, officers for the coming year will be elected and work plans discussed. Mrs. R. L. Showalter, president, will preside at the meeting. Mrs. Charles Stoner will lead the devotional period.

Rusty But Trusty Tanks Need Good Yank On Cranks

FORT GEORGE G. MEADE, Md.—(AP)—Army officers indicated today that 229 rusty but still trusty World war tanks here were slated for transfer to Canada for training purposes.

Holding somewhat the same international trade status as did 50 destroyers recently turned over to Britain, the 22-year-old obsolete monsters would figure in further U. S.-Canadian deals for air and naval bases, these sources explained.

Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, forecast the tank transaction at a Washington press conference Thursday.

Only one of the 229—lined up in an overgrown field officially listed as a "tank park"—now is in operating condition, justifying its preferred rating by uprooting trees, towing, and clearing land on the post.

But, tank experts contended the others needed little more than new spark plugs, batteries, fuel, and a healthy yank on the cranks.

GRANGE MEETS

LOUDONVILLE — The regular meeting of Hanover Grange was held Wednesday evening at the Grange hall.

It was announced that the annual inspection will be held in the hall Sept. 18. A class of candidates will be initiated.

EPWORTH LEAGUE MEETS

SHELBY—Epworth league of First Methodist church will hold its first regular meeting on the fall program at 6:30 p. m. Sunday at the church chapel. Marjorie Knapp, president; and Eileen Corwin, first vice president, are the new officers in charge.

"The Authority on Authorities"

OVERTAKING THE KING

If you hold the ace of an unbid suit in which your partner leads the king, you should nearly always overtake with it. Practically always he will hold the queen, and a goodly percentage of the time either the jack or ten also, regardless of whether the contract be suit or No Trumps. Holding up the ace should seldom be done unless you have some special situation in your own hand which points to the value of doing so.

South was one of those No Trump fiends, who considers himself a good bridge player because once in a while he steals a game to make up for the tremendous number of undue defeates he takes by his queer bidding. This time he took advantage of the fact that he was up against a pair he considered far below him in ability and wanted to top everybody else in the duplicate tournament in which he was playing.

East and West certainly made good his estimate of them. After the scores were posted, everybody seeing he was credited with a No Trump game on the hand said it was impossible. Surely it seems so when you notice that great heart suit. But what actually happened?

West, who had cannily passed his big suit during the bidding, led the heart K. East wouldn't think of taking a trick that was already his partner's, so played the 10, and then won the second heart trick with his A, blocking the suit. West never got into the lead again, and East took nothing further except two diamond tricks. The declarer scored four tricks in diamonds, three in clubs and two in spades, for game in a hand which did not truly contain a game.

With each of the numbered hands as dummy, how should South plan his play for 4-Spades after West leads the heart king?

Congress Foes Attack F.D.R. Secrecy Over Defense Trade

VOICE CHARGE 'DICTATORIAL' METHODS USED

Demand Diplomatic Maneuver With England Be Given Full Publicity.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Congressional foes of President Roosevelt's foreign policies today called loudly on the administration to make public at once details of the secret negotiations which led to the trade of 50 destroyers for naval bases on British possessions in this hemisphere.

At the same time, however, house Democratic leaders staunchly defended Mr. Roosevelt's announcement that these details would not be given to the public for ten years—under the state department's traditional rule that foreign negotiations be kept secret until they become "history."

Demanding that the diplomatic conversations between this country and England be publicized, Rep. Fish (R) N. Y., leading house isolationist, charged "the whole thing was a rotten, high-handed dictatorial disregard of American principles.

"If the president can give away 50 ships he can give away the whole navy," Fish declared. "The people have a right to know just how this all came about."

Sen. Nye (R) N. D., isolationist leader of the upper house, said he would bet "it won't take ten years for the game the president is playing to become known generally."

The North Dakotan said "the people will be satisfied with nothing less than a complete unfolding of these methods short of war which have now become leaps and bounds toward war."

Rep. Luther Johnson (D) Tex., ranking Democrat on the house foreign affairs committee, meanwhile, announced he would soon make a speech defending the president's stand.

"He is clearly within his rights," Johnson averred. "It is a long established and proper precedent in our country that such things should not be disclosed until they can cease to embarrass any other country."

Rep. Marcantonio (A-L) N. Y., likened the president's stand to that of European dictatorships.

"In Germany they have a system too that the people aren't told anything until Hitler wants them to know," he declared.

Rep. Edith Rogers (R) Mass., a member of the foreign affairs committee, and Rep. Maas (R) Minn., ranking GOP on the house naval affairs committee, both demanded that "at least the major part" of the negotiations be made public.

Passengers On Airliner Given Scary Landing

DAYTON —(AP)— Sixteen passengers of a Transcontinental and Western Airways transport plane were safe today after a trying experience in which they remained aloft until ambulances were rushed to the flying field for fear their ship might crack up in landing.

A big TWA liner bound from Detroit to Cincinnati reported over the nearby Vandalia airport that a tire was believed flat and asked that ambulances be brought to the scene as a precautionary measure.

The plane landed without a hitch and F. P. Koupal of St. Louis, first officer, said: "We heard what sounded like an explosion and believed one of the tires had blown out. After landing we found a splotch of blood on the fuselage and believe now that a bird must have hit the ship making the noise."

The plane continued its scheduled flight.

Up and Down THE STREET

Harvey Truman had been telling his neighbors on Park avenue east that he was raising some "mighty fine cucumbers" in his garden on the James M. Reed farm near Lucas, but that didn't prepare them for the double surprise he brought home the other morning. In fact they probably wouldn't have believed him if he had said that he had a cucumber weighing two pounds, seven ounces and measuring 12 inches long and 10 and a half inches in circumference. But that's what he had—as well as another, almost as large, that weighed a pound and fifteen ounces. Truman says the "pickles" were raised from ordinary seed.

The feudin' in the police department took on a new slant today with three patrolmen in the running for top honors as the department's best pistol shot. At the end of the second round of a six-weeks match Patrolman C. W. Kyler dropped to fourth place and Patrolman George Yoakum topped the list with Patrolmen Paul Martin and William Colby pressing hard for first place.

Warner Peterson, Mansfield tennis champion, is also quite a baseball fan, so when he went to Union county this week to teach school he had to figure out some way to keep up with the broadcast of the Cleveland Indians' games. "Fortunately, there's a radio at a filling station just across the street from the school, and at recess time I send the boys and girls out to the playground and then run over to get an idea of how the game is going." Peterson said. "After school is out I can get right back to the radio again for the rest of the game."

A cat that sneaked into a Mansfield theater yesterday appeared puzzled about the activity on the screen and rambled up and down the aisles for several minutes before climbing to the balcony, possibly to get a better view of what was going on, or maybe just to curl up in a corner and sleep where there wasn't so much traffic in the aisles.

DYING UNIONIST REVEALS RACKET

Says Gangsters Seized Power and $30,000 of Funds; Planned 3 Murders.

(By United Press)

CHICAGO — State's Atty. Thomas J. Courney said today Mathew Taylor, president of a Chicago elevator operators union, admitted in an affidavit before he died that gangsters had seized his union four years ago, forced him to pay $30,000 in union funds under threats of death and instigated the murders of three labor racketeers.

Taylor's statement charged that Louis (Little New York) Campagna, identified as a gangster, had attempted in 1937 to buy out control of his elevator operators and starters AFL union for $50,000 on behalf of Thomas J. Burke, vice president of the building service employes international union and that when he refused the gangsters had started a campaign to wrest the union he had controlled 35 years from him.

Taylor died at a Naperville, Ill., sanitarium yesterday. Courtney called 20 leaders of the elevator employes' union to his office last night and read Taylor's statement to them. He offered to help them re-establish the union and "protect decent, legitimate unions from racketeers."

Taylor's 65-page typewritten statement told how his union had been transferred from one international to another because George Scalise, former president of the building service employes international now on trial at New York on charges of grand larceny of union funds, had brought pressure upon AFL executives.

CYCLIST INJURED IN TRAFFIC CRASH

Mansfield Youth In Hospital After Mishap On Route 39.

Donald Hauserman, 21, of 327 Marion avenue, suffered a compound fracture of his left leg and injuries to his left foot about 10 p. m. yesterday when his motorcycle collided with an automobile on route 39 about three miles [illegible] of Mansfield. He is in General hospital.

The car was driven by Alden Hesselden, R. D. 2, who was traveling south. Hauserman was riding north.

Hauserman was not thrown from the motorcycle and did not realize his leg had been seriously hurt until he had traveled a considerable distance beyond the accident scene, he told officers.

OHIO LOWEST IN ENLISTMENT AVERAGE DURING PAST YEAR

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Ohio was lowest among the states in average voluntary enlistments in the country's fighting forces during the 1940 fiscal year, figures submitted to congress showed today.

The legislative reference service of the library of congress reported that enlistments per 100,000 population in the Buckeye state totaled 65 compared with the national average of 133.

Ohio also ranked well below states of comparable size with only 4,326 enlistments compared with 14,670 from Texas, which ranked first; 14,586 from Pennsylvania, in second place, and 11,092 from New York, third.

Kentucky, with 7,326, had the highest average, 280 per 100,000 population. Only two states other than Ohio had an average lower than 70, Michigan and Minnesota.

If congress approves selective military service and a quota policy established by the joint army and navy selective service committee, the number of men to be drafted in each state might be affected substantially by the number of Ohioans already in the armed forces.

Major Ben R. Howell explained that this policy provided that "the quota basis of the nation shall be the number of men available for service, including those men already in the service."

Each state and each community, the letter added, would be credited with the number of men who would enlist.

PASTOR RETURNS

Rev. Boyer Named to Church Here Another Year.

Rev. James L. Boyer will return to Mansfield as pastor of the First United Brethren church for another year as the result of appointments made today at the 55th annual conference of the United Brethren church at Canton.

Other pastor appointments in the Ashland district, which includes Mansfield, are Rev. Robert Airhart at Paradise Hill; Rev. J. P. Slaughter, Lakefork; Rev. P. M. Redd, Ashland; Rev. S. L. Postlethwait, Nova.

Before adjourning, delegates to the conference adopted a resolution urging that conscientious objectors to military conscription register with the board of Christian education at Dayton.

RITES FOR INFANT

Funeral services for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Motter, R. D. 4, were to be held at 4 p. m. today at the Wappner Funeral home, with Rev. C. L. Kern, officiating. Burial was to be in the Mansfield cemetery. The child died soon after birth at Mansfield General hospital today. Also surviving are a sister, Carrol Ann; two brothers, Ronald and Albert, jr.; and two grandmothers, Mrs. Hobart Motter and Mrs. Sophia Statler, both of Mansfield.

CYCLIST HURT IN CRASH AT BUCYRUS

Canton Man Injured As Vehicle Skids, In Hospital.

BUCYRUS—Frank Cupples, 43, of Canton, was in City hospital here today suffering from injuries sustained early today when the motorcycle he was riding went out of control on U. S. route 30 near Upper Sandusky.

Hospital attendants who described his condition as "serious" said Cupples suffered a possible skull fracture. He was still unconscious at noon.

Cupples was brought here by a tourist who said he was following the motorcycle and observed it go into a ditch.

DURBIN CHEERS HARMONY NOTE OF DEMOCRATS

Way Cleared For Sales Tax Repeal and $40 Pension In Party Platform.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—A Democratic resolutions committee whipped into final shape today a platform for the 1940 Ohio campaign and informed sources indicated it would be a document formally acknowledging former Gov. Martin L. Davey's undisputed leadership of the state organization by working for his favorite planks.

Buoyed by National Committeeman Charles Sawyer's declaration that he would support the entire state ticket, Davey said there was no serious opposition to his proposals that the party advocate repeal of the sales tax and guarantee $40 monthly incomes for aged persons.

Sawyer, who defeated Davey's 1938 bid for renomination and used the party organization to oppose him in the primary this year, declared at last night's Democratic state convention that he wanted to answer questions asked about his "attitude toward the ticket" in this campaign.

"We hear occasionally of those who 'sit down' or 'take a walk' and of people who 'run out' on their ticket," Sawyer asserted. "In answer to queries as to my attitude in this campaign, my answer is 'I am a good soldier. I intend to support the ticket."

The delegates earlier cheered Sawyer's inclusion of Davey's name in his salutation to the convention. The former governor sat on the platform, his first appearance at the convention. He and Sawyer nodded to each other as they made their appearance but there was no conversation between them.

Sawyer's declaration was immediately hailed by Francis W. Durbin of Lima, candidate for representative-at-large, as the crowning evidence of harmony within the party.

The convention's opening session Friday afternoon was devoted to a series of harmony speeches designed to end the bitter Sawyer-Davey feud that was held responsible for the party's crushing defeat in 1938.

Rep. T. V. Smith (D.-Ill.), urging Democrats to acknowledge freely that renomination of President Roosevelt for a third term shattered a precedent because of "a momentous crisis," charged the Republican party violated an even sterner tradition in naming a candidate "committed to the interests of big business" instead of choosing some one "impartial."

SCHOOL CLOSED

One-Room Building at Ganges To Be Abandoned.

A one-room school at Ganges was doomed last night by the Richland county board of education which transferred most of the Ganges district to Shelby.

About 20 parents from the district, still stunned by the school bus accident which injured nine pupils in their community, attended a hearing at the courthouse preceding the county board meeting.

A number protested against the transfer. A petition bearing 47 signatures, favoring the transfer, had already been submitted to the county board.

Boyd Robinson, county superintendent, said the Ganges school will be closed Monday. Approximately 16 pupils will be offected by the transfer, with all but six of them going to Shelby. The others will be taken to the Pleasant Grove school in the Union district.

Not That It Matters

A Glimpse of Robbinsville Where Vacationing Writer Can 'Get Away From It All'

—By JANE WILLIAMS

Joyce Kilmer Inn,
Robbinsville, N. C.

THIS is Robbinsville: Not as you would see it, just passing through the mountains going from Chattanooga east to Asheville, but as I see it after having spent the day in its tiny wooden courtroom crowded with folks from the hills, visiting the Snowbird school which the government operates for the Cherokees, standing on the stone terrace of the inn, and looking across the bowl-like valley to where the Snowbird range of the Great Smokies meets the sky.

You drive for miles and miles over unbelievably crooked roads wondering whether you'll ever come to a town or a filling station. You pass one-room shacks and cabins, half hidden in the dense foliage of the mountains. You pass Lake Santeetlah, a blue-green shimmer of water hemmed in by towering smoke-blue mountains and then quite quite suddenly, you come upon a little town.

There are just three outstanding buildings in the town and they completely dominate it—but there seems to be no relationship between any of them. There is a modern, up-to-date, stone high school building, which is in sharp contrast to the old, ugly, yellow wooden courthouse, the only wooden one left in North Carolina. Directly across the street from the county building is a long, low, white building which is the inn, standing on a high hill and a white retaining wall which seems to turn eternally amazed and supercilious eyes on the old courthouse.

* * *

THE September term of court opened here yesterday morning and when we came into town, the courthouse yard was filled with people from the town and from the surrounding hills. The grand jury had just indicted two men for murder and there were a dozen or so other cases.

After the session closed for the day I wandered over to the yard. My companion pointed out a stooped old man in blue overalls. "That's the man they just indicted for murder," he said. "He murdered his son in a quarrel over the boy's birth certificate."

A girl standing beside us, turned uninterested eyes on us and said, with the slightest touch of scorn "Tweren't a murder. Twere just a knifin'."

* * *

THIS morning the McKinleys and I sat in the stuffy, crowded courtroom and listened to the trial of a man who had bitten the ear off another in a fight. (The petit jury follows immediately after the grand jury. A circuit judge sits in all of the cases regardless of their classification).

The defendant, it seems, has a penchant for biting when he gets into fights. The prosecuting attorney had a cousin stand up to show the jury where the accused had bitten out a chunk of his cheek once in a fight. The defendant, on the witness stand, chewed gum furiously, rolled down his socks as he talked and gestured to illustrate his testimony.

"I never bit him nowheres, no time. He said 'Throw away that old pistol you got in your pocket and I'll whup yuh.' I wasn't aimin' to take no challenge like that, so I throwed away my little old pistol what I had in a little ole paper bag in my side pocket. I grabbed a holt of his left leg in my arms like this and he pecked me on the head with a mean ole black jack."

An attorney asked him how many times his opponent "pecked" him and he chewed his gum thoughtfully, and then said:

"I don't spect I know just how many times he did peck me, but it musta bin about six pecks 'cause I had six bumps on my head 'bout the size of a hen's egg. That made me awful mad—but I never did bite him no time, nowheres."

* * *

AN INTERESTING bit of testimony by the sheriff revealed that he was a witness to the entire incident. He testified that he had seen the accused throw away his pistol and had picked it up. The prosecuting attorney jumped up and yelled: "Do you mean to say you saw this whole thing, saw these men start to fight, and did nothing at all to stop it?"

The sheriff looked slightly pained as he crossed his long legs, shifted his tobacco from one side of his face to the other and said gently:

"I done just that. I figgered tweren't none o' my business."

* * *

LATE this afternoon while the jury was deliberating the ear-biting case, another case, of assault with intent to rape, was started. The handsome, impeccably dressed judge looked around the court room, explained the nature of the case and that there would be some very frank testimony. "If there are any ladies in the court, I am sure they will leave the room before the case starts."

There was an uneasy rustle of feminine skirts but no one moved. Without batting an eye, the judge said:

"There being no ladies present, we will proceed with the case."

* * *

A GENERAL STORE across the street from the Inn and the courthouse has signs across the front which tells passersby that it has "Feed, Fertilizer, Caskets, Coffins, Dry Goods, Furniture and Groceries." The difference between a casket and a coffin, the proprietor will tell you is that the former is for prosperous citizens, while the latter is for the poor folks.

* * *

OUTSIDERS who come to these mountains to live are "furriners" while people who come to spend a week or two are "touristers." If you wear a wrist watch you are a "rich tourister."

* * *

THE INN is named for the soldier-poet who wrote "Trees" and a forest of age-old trees, some of them with trunks 12 feet in diameter and rising 180 feet with a "nest of robins in their hair," form a memorial for the poet . . . Around the inn are de luxe cottages sealed in wormy chestnut, furnished in blond oak, with venetian blinds and all of the comforts of a modern hotel . . . Operated by two former Mansfielders who are having the time of their lives down here. . . . There is a waitress, a girl who looks and talks exactly like Katharine Hepburn playing Southern girl. She is from the hills but assures me she will never marry a "hillbilly." . . . There are less than 300 people in this town and less than 6,000 in the county, but there are more than 1,500 school children . . . POUND BERLIN WITH HEAVIEST ATTACK OF WAR

British Bombs Give Answer To Hitler's Threat to Eradicate Cities.

Most of the victims were civilians. In addition a number of workmen's homes were wrecked.

It appeared that the raid was directed chiefly against the Berlin garrison barracks in the Moabit sector of the capital northwest of the reichstag, but many incendiaries hit the neighboring criminal courts building, starting a bright blaze on the top floor.

One official was killed and two others were injured when the ceiling collapsed. Prisoners detained in the building were taken downstairs to air raid cellars before the bombs fell.

Visiting the various sections that were bombed, I found the Lehrter railway station — from which one entrains from Berlin en route to America—lighted by flames in the rear. A small warehouse in the adjoining freight yards half a mile from the station had been hit by incendiary bombs. Oddly enough, empty candy boxes were stored in the warehouse.

Late this morning gangs of workmen were still feverishly repairing damages in the Lehrter station area and other districts struck by bombs. All dud and suspected time bombs dropped by the British were removed.

A mile north I found the top story of a six-floor radio factory burning after being hit by incendiaries.

A semi-official summary of the raids on Berlin and elsewhere in Germany stated that only a few British planes penetrated the Reich, and that part of these flew over southeastern Germany.

It added that anti-aircraft batteries forced British planes which appeared over Potsdam and Spandau, west of Berlin, to turn back. Similar attacks near Magdenburg, Hannover and in the Ruhr area also were beaten off, it was claimed.

"At midnight," the statement said, "12 British planes penetrated Germany from Holland at intervals of five or ten minutes. Some of these pierced the Berlin air defenses, flew over the city and planlessly dropped bombs."

Germans Attack With New Fury.

LONDON—(AP)—German bombers, after giving London its worst day and night in the air, took up the attack against Britain with renewed fury today, roaring down on England in the northwest, the southwest and the southeast, but stayed clear of the capital itself.

Thirty Nazi planes, approaching an airfield in the southeast, were turned back by anti-aircraft fire.

Damage in the northwest was confined mainly to broken windows when bombs fell in a village and near a cemetery.

High explosive and incendiary bombs were showered on the coast by a formation which swept overhead just before dawn in a thunder of anti-aircraft fire.

London itself, which experienced six air raid alarms — a record—between dawn yesterday and midnight last night, was quiet during the early morning hours as Adolf Hitler's war birds struck at scattered objectives elsewhere.

A communique this morning said damage and casualties were generally "slight." Most of the night attacks came before midnight and were centered on London and northwest towns.

Industrial buildings and houses were damaged in eastern and southern districts of London. Water and gas mains and roads were damaged. Some persons were killed and others injured. A hospital was among the buildings struck.

Fires started during the previous raid were still burning when the Germans swept over the city for the sixth time in less than 18 hours. Several additional blazes were set by bombs which the last wave of raiders dropped in a crowded area, but the casualties were believed relatively small.

The Germans employed a new technique in their attacks on the London area during the night, dropping flares in chains to illuminate the capital with an eerie light before unloading their bombs.

Several scream bombs were dropped by the raiders, their high-pitched shriek rising high above the hammering of anti-aircraft guns.

Italian Bombers Raid Holy Land.

ROME — (INS) —A new Italian bombing raid in the Holy Land and other raids in North Africa were announced today by the Italian high command in a military bulletin which said:

"Our aviation again bombed oil equipment in the center of Haifa (Palestine), causing extensive fires.

"In North Africa our air formations bombed the railroad between Alexandria and Mersamatruh. Upon being attacked by enemy chasers, our bombers shot down two British Glosters and three others probably were shot down.

"In the Red Sea an enemy tanker was sunk by one of our submarines.

"Our aviation bombed a convoy of ships escorted by three cruisers, seriously damaging two ships and one cruiser. All our planes returned."

JAPANESE WARN UNITED STATES

Anglo-American Co-operation In Far East 'Unwelcome' To Nipponese.

TOKYO —(INS)— The Japanese press today published stern warnings to the United States and Great Britain that Anglo-American co-operation in the Far East is "unwelcome" to Japan.

The newspaper Asahi Shimbun warned against any "extension of Anglo-American co-operation in the Pacific or the crystallization of such co-operation into pressure against Japan's action in establishing a great new east Asiatic sphere for the common prosperity of the Asiatic peoples."

This warning followed disclosure that both the United States and Great Britain had made diplomatic representations to Japan against disturbance of the status quo in French Indo China. Japan has been seeking to extend its control of that French colonial position since the defeat of France by Germany.

Special services for world peace, as suggested in an address by President Roosevelt a few weeks ago, will be held at B'Nai Jacob church Sunday. Rabbi Rub will conduct the services.

RESOLUTION NO. 40-140

By Mr. Kyle:

Declaring it necessary to improve Overlook Avenue and alley running west of Overlook Avenue, to-wit: Beginning at a sanitary sewer in the City Park south east of Maple Lake and running south through Inlot No. 11296 to the center of Overlook Avenue, thence east in the center of Overlook Avenue to Inlot No. 11303, beginning in Inlot No. 11296 and running in a north westerly direction across Inlots No. 11295 and No. 9673 and in an alley to Inlot No. 9666 by the construction of an 8 inch sanitary sewer therein.

Be it Resolved by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, Three-Fourths of all Members elected thereunto concurring.

SEC. 1.—That it is necessary to improve Overlook Avenue and alley running west of Overlook Avenue, to-wit: Beginning at a sanitary sewer in the City Park south east of Maple Lake and running south through Inlot No. 11296 to the center of Overlook Avenue, thence east in the center of Overlook Avenue to Inlot No. 11303, beginning in Inlot No. 11296 and running in a north westerly direction across Inlot No. 11295 and No. 9673 and in an alley to Inlot No. 9666 by the construction of an 8 inch sanitary sewer therein.

SEC. 2.—That the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of the proposed improvement heretofore prepared by the City Civil Engineer and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service, be and the same are hereby approved.

SEC. 3.—That the whole cost of said improvement, less one-fiftieth of the total cost in proportion to the benefits resulting from the improvement shall be assessed upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit; all lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specifically benefitted by said improvement; and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of printing, publishing and serving the necessary legal notices, the printing and publishing of the necessary resolutions and ordinances, the cost of construction and inspection together with interest on bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments, and all other necessary expenditures.

SEC. 4.—That the assessments so to be levied shall be paid in three annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as borne by the bonds to be issued therefor; provided that the owner of any property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty days from and after the passage of the assessing ordinance in which case said cash assessment shall not include any item of interest upon bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred installments of assessments.

SEC. 5.—That bonds of the City of Mansfield shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

SEC. 6.—That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement, not specially assessed, together with the cost of any real estate or interest therein, purchased or appropriated, and the cost and expense of any appropriation proceeding therefor, and the damages awarded any owner of adjoining or abutting lands and interest thereon, and the cost and expense of such award shall be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio, in the manner provided by law.

SEC. 7.—This resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

CAROL FRIENDS PURGED BY NEW RUMANIAN RULE

Rounded Up By Scores Under Order of Dictator as Ex-King Departs.

Michael's invitation to return to Bucharest.

The Bucharest newspapers, released from censorship, pulled no punches in attacking Carol. Iron Guard sentiment was at a new high. Radio stations played the guard hymn from noon to midnight yesterday. Almost every shop window was plastered with pictures of Corneliu Codreanu, Iron Guard fuhrer who was slain in 1938. Iron Guardist newspapers sold by the tens of thousands and littered the pavements from one end of Bucharest to the other.

Informed quarters said Antonescu's cabinet likely would be chosen entirely from the ranks of the Iron Guard, whose threats of revolution spurred Carol's abdication.

Derby Replaces Crown for Carol.

BUCHAREST—(U.P.)—Abdicating King Carol II went into exile today after being warned by Premier Gen. Ion Antonescu that failure to quit the throne created danger of civil war and foreign occupation of Rumania.

Carol departed by train early this morning wearing a derby hat and a dark suit and accompanied by about 15 men in civilian dress. There were no women in the party and the whearabouts of the king's mistress, Magda Lupescu, was unknown although she may have boarded the train outside the city.

The departure of the former king was lacking in the pomp that marked most of his career.

He was red-eyed from weeping and was described as a broken man.

He left only a few hours before the return from exile of his divorced wife, Queen Helena, en route by airplane from Dresden Germany, to live at the palace with her son, the new 18-year-old King Michael. Carol had bid Michael a tearful, affectionate farewell last night.

It was understood that visa difficulties had delayed Carol's departure from 8 o'clock last night to 2 a. m. today, and that this accounted for the fact that few of the usually well informed persons knew where he was going.

Carol's special train headed west. Official spokesmen said Carol had been promised safe conduct when he abdicated and that policemen were escorting him to the frontier.

At 10 a. m. (3 a. m. EST) the schedule of the Simplon express line took the train through Craiova, where Rumanian and Bulgarian negotiators are discussing the cession of Rumania's southern Dobrudja province, the third of the Rumanian territorial losses which brought on the crisis. Russia took Bessarabia and north Bukovina provinces two months ago and Hungary is now occupying upper Transylvania.

Bulgaria Takes Rumanian Slice.

SOFIA, Bulgaria — (U.P.) — Premier Bogdan Filoff announced in a radio broadcast today the settlement of Bulgarian claims on the Dobrudja area of Rumania.

The agreement was signed at Craiova, on the frontier, this afternoon, the premier said.

Cession of south Dobrudja to Bulgaria—which lost the territory in the World war — had been predicted as a result of the Vienna accord, which gave half of Rumanian Transylavania to Hungary.

A settlement with Bulgaria was expected to complete the dismemberment of Rumania under guidance of the Axis powers, with Soviet Russia, Hungary and Bulgaria taking slices of the kingdom.

The entire Rumanian province of Dobrudja is 9,000 share miles, but Bulgaria centered her claims on the smaller southern section in which live about 140,000 Bulgarians and 80,000 Rumanians.

The premier said that the Bulgarian army would enter this section on Sept. 18.

Bulgaria agreed to pay Rumania an indemnity of about $4,000,000 to cover loss of crops and the Rumanian government will pay certain indemnities to Bulgaria. The two accounts will about balance each other, it was stated.

Hear Magda Goes With Ex-King.

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— A German wireless broadcast heard in New York today said that Ex-King Carol of Rumania left Bucharest for Switzerland by train at 4 a. m. Saturday. It was said that Carol would remain a month in Switzerland and then go to a Riviera villa. The broadcast said that Carol was accompanied by 39 persons, including Mme. Magda Lupescu, her father, and Ernst Urdarinu, former minister of the court.

PRESBYTERIANS TO HOLD UNITY SERVICE SUNDAY

First and United' Churches To Hear Rev. Ford Preach At First Church.

Because of Rev. D. N. Roller's absence, the First Presbyterian and the United Presbyterian churches will hold a united service at the First Presbyterian church, with Rev. H. H. Ford preaching the morning service.

His subject will be "The Voice of Wisdom," and special music will be presented by a quartet composed of Jene Weuthrick, Mrs. C. O. Anglin, Leo Hans, and Paul Watts. Miss Weuthrick will also sing the offertory.

Rev. Roller was called out of the city this week because of the illness of his father.

AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Dr. Millard Brelsford of Granville will occupy the pulpit of the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday morning at the 10:30 service.

Junior choir rehearsal has been set for 3:45 p. m. Thursday, with prayer meeting scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Wallace Campbell will lead the meeting.

The Baptist association will meet at Loudonville Sept. 11 at 9:30 p. m.

Rev. Albert L. Linder, the new pastor, will preach his first sermon on Oct. 6.

PLAN CORN ROAST

The Men's Work organization of the Church of the Brethren will be guests of Howard Kissel at his home six miles north of Mansfield on the Cressrown road at a corn and wiener roast Wednesday at 7 p. m. Annual election of officers will take place at this time. Men are asked to bring their wives as guests to the affair.

The annual business meeting of the congregation will be held in the church Friday at 7:30 p. m. Reports of committees and boards for the past year will be read and plans for the coming year will be made. The annual election of officers for the church and Sunday school will be held at this time.

The Women's Work organization will meet in the church Thursday at 10 a. m. for an all-day meeting. This will be the annual re-organization meeting, officers for the coming year will be elected and work plans discussed. Mrs. R. L. Showalter, president, will preside at the meeting. Mrs. Charles Stoner will lead the devotional period.

Rusty But Trusty Tanks Need Good Yank On Cranks

FORT GEORGE G. MEADE, Md.—(AP)—Army officers indicated today that 229 rusty but still trusty World war tanks here were slated for transfer to Canada for training purposes.

Holding somewhat the same international trade status as did 50 destroyers recently turned over to Britain, the 22-year-old obsolete monsters would figure in further U. S.-Canadian deals for air and naval bases, these sources explained.

Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, forecast the tank transaction at a Washington press conference Thursday.

Only one of the 229—lined up in an overgrown field officially listed as a "tank park"—now is in operating condition, justifying its preferred rating by uprooting trees, towing, and clearing land on the post.

But, tank experts contended the others needed little more than new spark plugs, batteries, fuel, and a healthy yank on the cranks.

GRANGE MEETS

LOUDONVILLE — The regular meeting of Hanover Grange was held Wednesday evening at the Grange hall.

It was announced that the annual inspection will be held in the hall Sept. 18. A class of candidates will be initiated.

EPWORTH LEAGUE MEETS

SHELBY—Epworth league of First Methodist church will hold its first regular meeting on the fall program at 6:30 p. m. Sunday at the church chapel. Marjorie Knapp, president; and Eileen Corwin, first vice president, are the new officers in charge.

"The Authority on Authorities"

OVERTAKING THE KING

If you hold the ace of an unbid suit in which your partner leads the king, you should nearly always overtake with it. Practically always he will hold the queen, and a goodly percentage of the time either the jack or ten also, regardless of whether the contract be suit or No Trumps. Holding up the ace should seldom be done unless you have some special situation in your own hand which points to the value of doing so.

South was one of those No Trump fiends, who considers himself a good bridge player because once in a while he steals a game to make up for the tremendous number of undue defeates he takes by his queer bidding. This time he took advantage of the fact that he was up against a pair he considered far below him in ability and wanted to top everybody else in the duplicate tournament in which he was playing.

East and West certainly made good his estimate of them. After the scores were posted, everybody seeing he was credited with a No Trump game on the hand said it was impossible. Surely it seems so when you notice that great heart suit. But what actually happened?

West, who had cannily passed his big suit during the bidding, led the heart K. East wouldn't think of taking a trick that was already his partner's, so played the 10, and then won the second heart trick with his A, blocking the suit. West never got into the lead again, and East took nothing further except two diamond tricks. The declarer scored four tricks in diamonds, three in clubs and two in spades, for game in a hand which did not truly contain a game.

Your Week-End Lesson.

With each of the numbered hands as dummy, how should South plan his play for 4-Spades after West leads the heart king?

Dog racing in Ohio is being subjected to investigation—but why bother? It may be only a "misdemeanor"—or are misdemeanors against the law?

Americanism Is Worth Knowing About

RUSSIA has its Communism, Germany has its Naziism, Italy has its Fascism—and in various other parts of the world different forms of government can be found which have been fitted to their environment and are intended to serve the needs of people and conditions to which they apply.

In the United States of America, ever since this nation was established more than a century and a half ago, a courageous experiment in democracy has been in progress—based on belief that a considerable majority of the citizens of this country are capable of self-government and that all should have equal opportunity to enjoy the rights of freemen and attain to the extent of their individual ability.

The success of this experiment, thus far, has been amazing—despite the handicaps of such human frailties as political ineptness, excessive greed and abysmal ignorance.

In its relatively short national existence the United States has established standards of living that are higher than anywhere else in the world and has made urban and rural conveniences available to millions of farm and city workers to an extent undreamed of by workers in even the more advanced foreign countries.

In addition to providing opportunities for millions of productive workers to earn, save, live comfortably and become home-owners, the American system has not been unmindful of those millions of unfortunates, who, because of physical or mental handicaps and through no fault of their own, have been unable to make their own way through life.

First as communities, afterward as states and more recently in association with the federal government, steady progress has been made for a half century toward the goal of providing care for all persons unable to look after themselves, and sufficient pensions to meet the needs of those who are aged or infirm.

Despite all of the advantages of American citizenship, however, there has been constantly in evidence an attitude of dissatisfaction on the part of small minority groups, such as now appears in the fulminations of Communist and Nazi agitators and in the subversive activities of alien-inspired propagandists.

Under the Constitution of the United States, which looks with unexampled tolerance on the rights of minorities, there has been constant effort to safeguard such "rights" even to the extent of granting free speech to irresponsible zealots who aim at the eventual overthrow of American democracy.

It seems strange that, with Russia open to them as Communists, Germany as Nazis and Italy as Fascists, these admirers of alien "isms" should deign to remain in the United States—where all except a comparatively few malcontents prefer AMERICANISM.

Truth Should Be Told

ONE LESSON America should learn from tragedies of the past year in Europe is the great harm that may be done to a nation by censorship. Knowledge which could be of aid to an enemy must be kept secret, of course, but too often ministries of information have been incredibly stupid in their definition of such knowledge.

The French people were kept in ignorance of their great peril until almost the end. Their blind faith in the Maginot Line and in the power of the "finest army in the world" was encouraged by official concealment of Germany's strength and of their own weakness in many specific lines. When the battle was going against their army they were still left to the misinformation of German propaganda by a government afraid to tell them the truth.

The British ministry of information appears to be making mistakes, too, though not so grave as those of France. It withholds bad news too long. The result is the spread of rumors and alarms and the final unpleasant realization that a German claim at which Britons had scoffed was really true. This is done in spite of the known ability of the British to face hard facts and to stiffen their own courage and resistance in the hour of danger.

A free people not only has the right to know what is going on. A large part of its strength lies in that knowledge.

Local Option Voting Test

DECISION of a number of South Boulevards residents to take time by the forelock, in the matter of liquor selling within that newly incorporated village, seems a quite sensible way of dealing with the subject.

By holding a local option election now, as is proposed, residents of the village, which is on Lexington avenue and adjoins Mansfield to the south, will have opportunity to express themselves as for or against a night club, or other liquor sales places in their village.

When originally platted as a subdivision, South Boulevards was carefully restricted to prevent undesirable business encroachment in a distinctly residential area and this can be maintained to the extent that a majority of residents of the village desire.

Confident of Final Outcome

AN INTERESTING expression of confidence as to the outcome of the war for the western democracies comes from the Near East. A New York Times correspondent tells of talking with three Arabs from Syria, Palestine and Egypt respectively, each of them an ardent nationalist with no particular love for Great Britain. They all confessed that while they were uncertain whether Britain would "win" the war, they were sure she would not lose it.

"It is all very well for any country to gain territory," they said, "but if the sea highways are blocked or controlled by the British fleet, that new territory is of little value to Britain's enemy. Furthermore, it is curious to note that almost invariably in the past, Britain has been dragged into a war when she was not at all prepared against a strong enemy, yet she has always managed to prolong the struggle until she had time to catch up and finally overcome her enemy, no matter how formidable the latter may have been."

Such opinions, the correspondent remarks, are a great tribute to Britain's prestige in that part of the world.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Last night a well known but loud-mouthed magazine writer came into Tony's and began waving to people right and left. He does this to attract attention to himself. Suddenly he held up the ends of his necktie and said, "See this tie? It belongs to Noel Coward."

I started to say, "That's nothing. I've got on a pair of shorts that belong to Elliott Roosevelt." But didn't. It would have entailed some explaining. The president's son doesn't know that I borrowed a pair of his shorts one hot summer's afternoon. If he did he might want them back, and I would hate to part with them because I like my clothes loose, and these, which are blue, dangle to my knees. Elliott is quite a big boy.

Some months back one of my friends shared an apartment with Roosevelt on 58th street. After a trek through town with this friend, which left us pretty damp and limp, we went up to his apartment for a shower to cool off a bit.

"Go ahead and help yourself to some fresh under linen," he said. "I'm out, but Elliott's got plenty and he won't mind."

That's the whole story. We thought we'd return them, but that seemed silly after a while, and they did come in handy. However, if Mr. Roosevelt, who probably will read this in his home town of Fort Worth, Texas, demands his rights, we'll wrap them up and, with real regret, send them to him.

A MAN from Pittsburgh wants to know whatever happened to Frank Butler, who made quite a name for himself writing for the newspapers and acting in plays around the turn of the century. That's a little before my time, boys, but Irving Hoffman supplies a nice little story about Frank, although he doesn't know where Frank is today.

Frank was in a road company with a young actor named John Barrymore. Before the show got to New York Frank was fired for insubordination. Hurrying to New York, he obtained a job as dramatic critic on the old Morning Telegraph, and when the show got to Broadway there was Frank, in a reviewer's seat, waiting to get even! It was a pretty bum show and Frank panned it unmercifully. That, Frank said, was the sweetest triumph of his career.

WOODY HERMAN, who is pretty close to the top among young band leaders, is only 25 years old. People who would like to verify this may easily do so by remembering that his full name is Woodrow Wilson Herman, which certainly dates him. Recently he wrote a new song which the coffee growers of the Latin countries will probably appreciate: "The Coffee Bean Conga."

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, Sept. 7, 1920.

Census report showed Richland county's population 55,178, a gain of 7,511 since 1910, with fall-off in rural population.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Ahrendt, 343 West Fourth street.

Eugene Gutzwiler went to Dayton to enter Mt. Mary's college.

Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Zimmerman were surprised by friends in celebration of their eighteenth wedding anniversary.

John Bissman underwent appendicitis operation at General hospital.

Chauncey V. Gates resigned as letter carrier to take course in chiropractic at Pittsburgh.

Dr. W. E. Wygant came from Cincinnati to open office at 89 West Third street.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, Sept. 7, 1935.

One hundred and 40 school children's gardens were judged in a contest conducted by the local garden clubs.

Miss Margaret Skelly and Howard Smith were united in marriage in Cleveland.

Announcement was made that 500 would seek election in Richland county.

L. L. Wade, 87½ West Third street, was severely burned when he went to sleep with a lighted cigaret in his hand.

Herman P. Strater, 51, died in Toledo, while playing golf.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Peppard, 20 Ruth avenue.

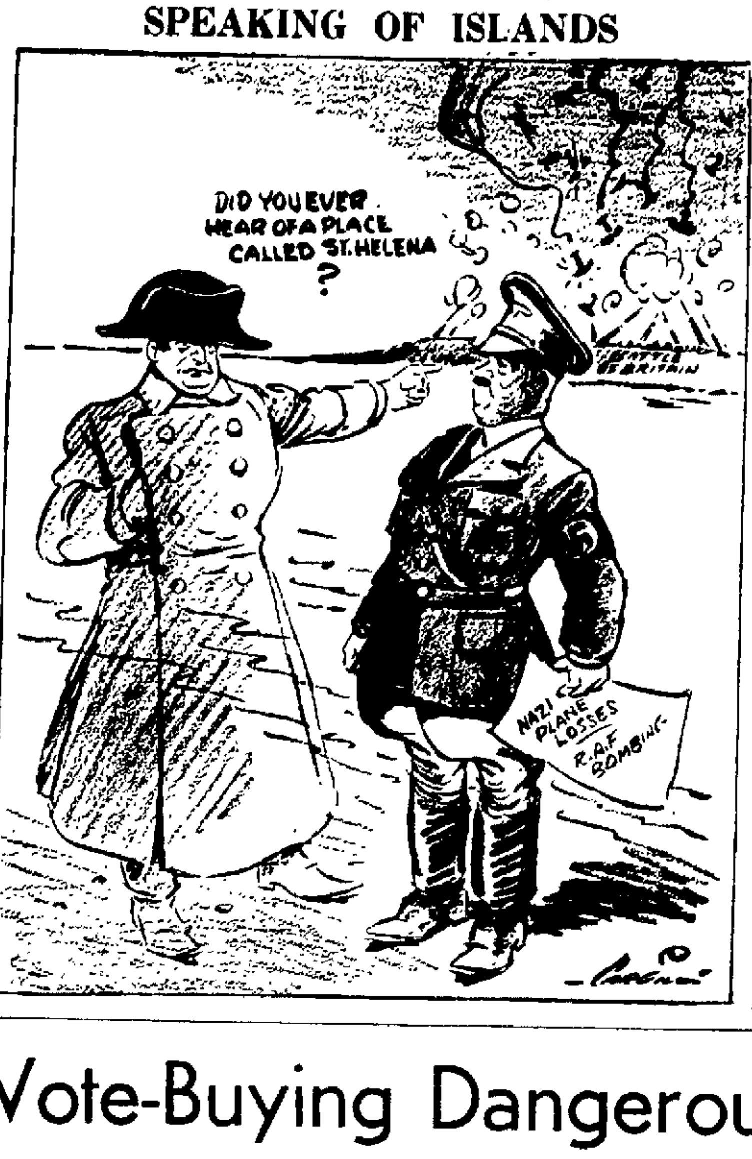
SPEAKING OF ISLANDS



Vote-Buying Dangerous Business

By WALTER E. SPAHR
Professor of Economics, New York University.

REPRESENTATIVE Paul Shafer of Michigan has announced that he has received information showing that there has been a "startling increase in the printing of blank relief checks and food stamps by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing," presumably for relief distribution by key states in critical months of President Roosevelt's campaign for an unprecedented third term.

Congressman Shafer said he was fully aware of the serious nature of the implications contained in his statement regarding these developments, and that if the past performance of the administration had not been what it has been, he would hesitate to make public these facts and bring them to the floor of the house of representatives.

This accusation or query does not, of course, prove that the administration will resort to such an unscrupulous and dangerous method of buying votes, but it should serve to focus the attention of the public upon this particular possibility so that it may be watched with great care. Mr. Shafer makes an important point when he reminds us of the past record to the party in power with respect to the increase in relief rolls in the election years, 1936 and 1938, and the decline in those rolls in the non-election years, 1935 and 1937.

* * *

ARE the American people to be subjected to this sort of thing again? And should it succeed again, what then?

From every point of view, such tactics constitute one of the blackest chapters in American political history. They show a calculating unscrupulousness on the part of the politicians who will use them, and they reveal a cynical contempt on the part of these politicians for the character of the American people.

But if it should be demonstrated again that this country has in it a sufficient number of people whose votes can be bought by relief checks to enable the party in power to carry the election, what then?

The situation will hardly be the same as it was in 1936; it will be far more ominous. Not only will the people have been sold out by that purchased margin whose votes are sufficient to carry the election, but the two-term tradition will have been broken. The implications of all this are perhaps the most serious things that have ever confronted us as a nation.

* * *

THE possibility of these things coming to pass has had a sobering effect on many if not all thoughtful people. Men talk in terms not heretofore heard.

It is said, for example, that if the present administration is continued in power by the employment of dishonest practices in the election, by the wholesale purchase of "relief" votes, there are many men who will turn the keys in the doors of their business establishments and close up forever. Hard-working, honest men will not permit any government to take advantages of the nation in any such manner.

If the politicians of the party in power are inclined to look upon the forthcoming campaign as just another one in which it is safe to win the election by the use of vote buying and similar unfair tactics, they probably have mistaken the temper of the great body of patriotic citizens in this country, commonly called the "backbone of this nation."

This business of a third-term candidate, all things considered, is an ominous thing in itself. But if to this is added the use of government's money and power to corrupt the electorate, then serious days, indeed, are awaiting the American people.

Listen, World!

The Answer Lies With Him!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

NIGHT AFTER NIGHT he had stood staring out into the darkness. Men were battling in that darkness—brother fighting brother. Men were writhing, dying in hideous agony. Women were being stripped of home and hope. A great nation was falling apart, and there was nothing he could do about it. Nothing.

Yes, he held the highest power of that nation in his hands. And in his heart an endless, aching pity. But both pity and power seemed futile now against this unanswering night. If only there were something—someone somewhere—who could stop this agony! Gray-lipped and shambling the big man turned and knelt—

And of that awful hour, in his own and his nation's life, Abraham Lincoln wrote—

"I have been driven many times to my knees by the overwhelming conviction that I had nowhere else to go. My own wisdom and that of all about me seemed insufficient for the day."

"Nowhere else to go—" This world has come to that dreadful pass today. America as well as all the older nations. As human beings, we have done all we could. Given our utmost in courage and genius. We have built machines more swift and terrible than any the race has ever known. Millions of men have been taught the dreadful art of butchery. Millions have battled and died. Yet still the scourge comes on and on. Until there is only one place left to go in our search for help—to our knees!

Now from Washington President Roosevelt cries, as Lincoln cried before him—"WE MUST PRAY! OUR OWN WISDOM IS INSUFFICIENT. LET US TURN, AS OUR FATHERS TURNED IN THEIR EXTREMITY, TO GOD! AS A NATION LET US ASSEMBLE ON SEPTEMBER 8TH AND PRAY FOR PEACE."

But perhaps you, reading, will say to yourself: "Yes, it's a nice sentimental gesture, a pretty superstition. But what good do prayers really do? What can we actually accomplish by a few words sent into nowhere?"

"What can we accomplish?" Everything we have ever accomplished has been the result of prayer . . . of deep desire, winging its way from our hearts to our eternal Source. The great scientific discoveries, the immortal works of art, the common utensils we use in our daily life—they all are the result of prayer. Someone wished . . . someone reached . . . and the answer came.

THERE IS NO FORCE ON EARTH AS POWERFUL, AS FAR REACHING, AS INVINCIBLE AS PRAYER.

America has wrought wonders through its own energy and talent. But America can, if it will, accomplish more in those few kneeling moments on September 8th than it has done before in all its history. For it will not be trusting its own limited strength, but the unlimited power of God!

A great nation at prayer—that is a moving miracle. One thinks of the endless groups that will be gathering in huge cathedrals, at tiny, crossroad shacks. Even as I write this, letters are pouring in, telling of plans—

There's the one from that Convent of Mary Reparatrix, New York City, where in June a nine-day novena for peace was held. Cloistered nuns praying ceaselessly by day and night, forty thousand men and women stopping in their daily round to join with them. A blitzkrieg of love triumphing over a blitzkrieg of hate. Now again—on September 6th, 7th and 8th—their prayers will go up through the darkness.

If you are near there, join them. Wherever you are, whatever your creed, out of pity and love, drop to your knees that day and pour out your heart, join that great cry for help:

"THERE IS NO PLACE ELSE TO GO"—but that will be enough, if we bring our faith with us!

Timely Editorial

As Seen In Detroit.

Not for the world would we wish to appear to be moved by a partisan or selfish interest in all this: BUT—

If the Cleveland Indians are allowed to go on from here and win the American League pennant, what becomes of all the fine old maxims of sport and the copy books? By every account, here are as wrong a lot of paid athletes as ever ganged up on an able leader. They are apparently without any of the virtues which—in the proverbs, at least—invariably triumph. Are we to say that right will prevail, except in big league ball? Honesty is the best policy, we are told; and yet one Indian applies for a winter unemployment dole in his home state. Is that a square guy? Are we to think that one need not play the game any more to win at it?

How are we to explain to Landis? What are we to tell our grandchildren, if people like this can get ahead in the world of sport?

We trust our Tigers will so arrange things that posterity can be told iniquity did not prevail. In fact, it might be better not to have to mention the Indians at all.—Detroit News.

This Is Ohio

FAMOUS Ohio trees are described in a late issue of the Ohio Forest News, pamphlet published by the State agricultural Experiment station in Wooster. Included are:

The McGuffey elms on Ohio university campus, planted by Dr. William H. McGuffey when he was president of the Athens school; the Lee oak at Cincinnati, named after its discoverer, Thomas Lee; the Norwalk apple tree planted by the wandering Johnny Appleseed, and the giant Logan elm near Circleville.

Also widely known are the "President's Grove" at the Rutherford B. Hayes home near Fremont and the Dawes arboretum near Newark, named after Charles G. Dawes, former vice president.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Bandy-Legged."

"Why" inquires a reader "do we refer to a person whose legs are bent or crooked as bandy-legged?"

The answer to this question reveals the typical process by which a common phrase comes into being.

"Bandy," in this connection, is derived from the French "bander" meaning "to bind, to bend (a bow)." From this source we have so-called game 'bandy' which is played with a ball and a bent stick like that used in our game of hockey.

It is this element of being bent, present in the original root-word and carried over into its English use which is responsible for the significance of the expression "bandy-legged."

Summary of Week's Happenings

Other Historic Bargains Recalled As Great Britain Gets Destroyers

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

THE DUTCH reputedly gave the Indians $24 worth of wampum and a demijohn of liquor for Manhattan Island.

President Jefferson caught Napoleon in a tight spot and purchased territory now included in 14 rich, central states for $15,000,000, or three cents an acre.

And President Johnson picked up a chilly chunk of landscape called Russian America (Alaska) for $7,200,000, or two cents an acre. Thirty years later the gold rush began.

This week President Roosevelt showed promise of joining the ranks of America's Historic Bargainers.

For 50 superannuated destroyers with a book value of $85,000,000 he won from Great Britain 99-year leases on six strategic naval and air base sites.

The right to bases on two others, Newfoundland and Bermuda, was "generously" given as a gift.

An over-age destroyer is one more than 16 years old. All the ones swapped had been reconditioned and were doing neutrality patrol. Though U. S. officers have sneered at them as "mere hulks" they are considered serviceable. They have the old-fashioned flush deck and have four stacks.

Before the deal we had 247 destroyers, 169 of them over-age. Britain has lost scores of her destroyers in the war and now may have less than 100.

A British foreign office spokesman admitted: "It is no secret we need destroyers. They are necessary for convoys, dealing with submarines and keeping open the sea channels between England and the Americas." Already a few have been sent toward Canadian ports.

Several of the areas are equipped with excellent bases. Every one of the eight is said to have a harbor that can be used at least by destroyers and cruisers.

We also received Britain's pledge that she would never surrender or scuttle her fleet.

Clipped to the president's message was an 18-page opinion by Attorney General Jackson upholding the legality of the move.

The deal did not violate neutrality laws, he believed, because the ships clearly were "not built, armed or equipped" to enter the service of a belligerent.

At Home

Chambers Swap Bills.

Even opponents of conscription in the house were willing to admit by midweek the bill would slide through easily. "I'm afraid we're licked," sighed Republican Rep. Short.

Late Thursday, however, the house voted an amendment (185-155) to give voluntary enlistment a 60-day trial before conscription.

The house bill varies on these points from the one passed by the senate:

1. It would make all male citizens from 21 through 44 liable for military service and subject to registration, while the senate draft was restricted to men from 21 through 30;
2. It would limit the number of conscripts permitted to be in service at one time to 1,000,000 while the senate figure was 900,000.
3. It would allow the government to rent—but not take over ownership—of unco-operative factories.

Walker for Farley.

A depressed janitor took down an autographed picture of the late Will Rogers from a Post Office Department wall and read out loud: "To my close personal friend, Jim Farley, a practical politician and a gentleman—a rare combination." Sighed the janitor, as he placed the picture in a box with hundreds of others: "That says it quick, but it says it all."

Jim Farley was leaving as postmaster general. In his place, the president named Farley's good friend Frank Comerford Walker, an urbane, publicity-shy New York lawyer and chain theater owner. During the 1932 campaign Walker raised the money that helped put F. D. R. across.

'Not Done With Mirrors.'

German officials are apologizing for any RAF planes that reach Berlin by asserting some British planes are covered with invisible paint. Modest denials come from London.

From San Francisco this week came a boast by a manufacturer that he makes three kinds of invisible paints: (1) a flat dull gray which renders a plane almost invisible at 100 yards on hazy days; (2) a bright aluminum compound which works swell on sunny days; (3) an older dull black which hides high-flying planes at night. Britons, he says, are using this last type.

Abroad

Hitler's Threat.

As England continued to stave off almost continuous Nazi aerial thrusts, Prime Minister Churchill declared air supremacy was "gradually and painfully" being wrested from the Luftwaffe. The Air Ministry claimed 1,500 German planes downed and pointed to bomb attacks by Junkers "90" planes, usually used only for transports, as evidence Germany is "slowly becoming deficient in other bomber types."

Another bright spot for the British: seasonal storms set in Sept. 22 and will make flying and naval movements hazardous and seasickish if not impossible.

Nonetheless, Germany's Propaganda Minister Goebbels and his boss, A. Hitler, beamed confidence. Goebbels said, "The decisive hour is inexorably near." Hitler said hundreds of thousands of bombs would be dumped on England every night in revenge for night raids on Germany.

Mexico: Hotter Still.

Those two rival congresses appeared in Mexico this week as anticipated. The official congress (which U. S. Ambassador Daniels recognized by attending) proclaimed that Gen. Camacho was the next president. President Cardenas also attended. But at a secret session boosters of conservative Gen. Almazan said he was the real winner of July's election.

From New York City, where Almazan was visiting, came his promise to return to Mexico "at the proper time" and accept the presidency. He said Mexicans are "sick to the point of revolt, with or without my leadership," or "racketeer government."

Mexican newspapers hesitated to print this for fear of inciting revolution until President Cardenas requested them to do so.

China's Promise.

Japan long has seen the possibility of getting past the bar to China's backdoor by striking through French Indo-China, thus flanking large armies and mountain barriers. This week she demanded the immediate use of Haiphong, port of the Gulf of Tonkin, as a military base and the right to move troops over the French-owned Yunnan railroad to the Chinese border. China's foreign minister promised that if Japanese landed in Indo-China the Chinese would march to meet them.

Jews to Fight Back.

Herr Hitler's first move against a people was within his own country—the Jews. In each conquered country he has continued a separate war against them. This week the New Zionist Organization announced in London they would fight back.

A Jewish National Army will be formed to fight both Germany and Italy. (The British government has been slow to sanction the move.)

It's hoped by Jews that an army of at least 100,000 can be recruited from all parts of the world. Most recruiting will be done in America.

People

London's Football Fans.

With 8,655,000 humans living within its borders, London is the largest city in the world and twice as big a target as Berlin. Yet, as German air raiders swarmed over almost every hour, this report was received of life in London early this week:

You can still procure sightseeing guides and flowers at almost any midtown street corner. . . . Twenty-four legitimate plays are running. . . . Newspapers never miss an edition and milkmen never skip a round. . . . There have been no food shortages. . . . Thousands of Londoners attended football matches last week-end.

Surprise!

Film Director Frank Borzage says he makes $3,250 a week. He insists that for 20 years he has turned his money over to his wife and business agent. This week he told a court that he had discovered only recently that he was $150,000 in debt. He made this revelation during divorce proceedings in contesting his wife's request that a receiver control their common property.

NUPTIAL AFFAIRS HONOR BRIDES-ELECT

The Misses Helen Stuhldreher, LaVada Ewing and Vita Bechley Feted By Associates; Mrs. Humbert Also Entertained.

FRIDAY EVENING was a popular time for showers for recent brides and brides-elect. Last night the home of Mrs. Peter Creamer, jr., West Fifth street, was the scene of a personal shower in honor of Miss Helen Stuhldreher. Associate hostesses were Miss Isabel Kass and Miss Marie Ellen Campbell.

The guests spent the evening making a bride's book, after which refreshments were served at small tables. Each was decorated with tall tapers tied with sweet peas and blue tulle, and the bride's table was centered with a miniature bride and groom on a bed of sweet peas beneath a wedding bell.

Notes directed the honoree to a shower of personal gifts. She was also presented with a personal gift by the hostesses. Another party will be given Monday night at Wickliffe Manor for the bride-elect. Hostesses will be Rosemary Herily, Shelby, Mrs. Eileen Hanarhan, Mrs. Betty Conklin and Mrs. James Gill.

Miss Stuhldreher will become the bride of Theodore R. Patterson at St. Peter's parsonage Sept. 17.

* * *

Miss Jean Purdy, who will become the bride of Carl McNeill next Thursday at 10 a. m. at her home, 408 Park avenue west, entertained last night with a pre-nuptial kitchen shower for Miss LaVada Ewing, who will become the bride of John A. Dalton, jr. The ceremony will be performed Sept. 16 at St. Peter's Catholic church at 9:30 a. m.

The eight guests spent the evening playing bridge, and prizes, which were given to the honoree, were won by Mrs. John Goff and Miss Mary Edith Ewing. The long table at which the guests were seated was decorated with yellow flowers, and each place was marked with a red trimmed kitchen utensil. The hostess presented the honoree with a gift of fiesta ware.

* * *

Miss Julia BeVier, 160 Bartley avenue, was hostess for the bathroom shower given last night by employes of the purchasing department of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company in honor of Miss Vita Bechley. There were 12 present, and games were played with prizes going to Mrs. George Grega and Miss Olga Luich. These were presented to Miss Bechley who will become the bride of Larry Church Sept. 14 at the altar of St. John's Lutheran church at Perrysville.

Individual sprinkling cans served as favors on the small tables when refreshments were served.

Mrs. Ada Lurz entertained with a party for her grandson, F. S. Humbert, and his bride, the former Miss Eileen Wright, yesterday evening at her home, 199 Harker street. The couple was married on Aug. 19.

The affair was attended by 35 relatives and friends of the couple, and prizes in the games were won by W. E. Sears and Miss Nellie Morrison. Red and white appointments were used on the small tables when luncheon was served, and the home was decorated with bouquets of flowers in those same shades.

Mr. and Mrs. Humbert received many gifts from the guests and the hostess presented them with a gift for the kitchen. Mr. and Mrs. D E. Miller and their daughter, May Virginia, of Lucas, were out-of-town guests in attendance.

The next in the series of parties honoring Mrs. Humbert will be a dinner at the Wickliffe Manor next Tuesday evening. Members of El Gato club are giivng this party, which also will fete Mrs. J. M. Weil, the former Miss Vangie Zimmerman.

* * *

Mrs. Ray Scott was hostess for a personal shower in honor of Mrs. Dolph Bennett last evening at her home, 464 Sloane avenue. Prizes in the contests were won by Mrs. Charles Brissel and Mrs. Henry Duffey, who presented them to the honoree. Pink and blue appointments were used on the small tables when luncheon was served, and Mrs. Bennett received a shower of gifts from the guests.

MEET AT TEA ROOM.

Members of the Revelers club met Thursday at Staiger's tea room, Glessner avenue. Pinochle was played and prizes won by Mrs. Howard Heichel, Mrs. Michael Wentz. Mrs. Joseph Wentz was hostess. Mrs. Michael Wentz, 246 Spring street, will be hostess for the next meeting.

Recent Bride

A civil ceremony was read Aug. 31 for the marriage of Miss Eloise F. Ricker, above, and Dale M. Beer. Mr. and Mrs. Beer were married at 7 p. m. in a home ceremony by Richard Gore, mayor of Lexington. Mr. and Mrs. Beer are now at home at 281 West First street.

Former Richland Resident Takes Vows at Cambridge

Of interest to persons in the Mansfield area will be the announcement of the marriage today of Miss Mary Elizabeth Himes, Cambridge, to James Elba Sims, St. Marys. The bride, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Albert Merle Himes, attended Wittenberg and Muskingum colleges, and is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority. She made her home at both Lucas and Plymouth for a number of years where her father was pastor of the St. Paul's Lutheran and the Evangelical Lutheran churches. She has been teaching in the Cambridge schools.

Mr. Sims, is the son of Mrs. Herman A. Sims, New Concord. He received his A. B. degree from Muskingum college where he was a member of the Stag club. He is now employed in the personnel division of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company.

The ceremony was read at 11:30 a. m. today at the Christ Lutheran church at Cambridge with the bride's father and Rev. J. R. Himes officiating. Music was provided by Miss Margaret Sutley, organist, and the church choir.

Thomas M. Himes, brother of the bride, gave her in marriage, while Miss Ruth E. Himes, her sister, served as maid of honor. Joseph Reece, Akron, was best man, and Dallas Sims, New Concord, and James Himes, Cambridge, were the ushers.

Following the ceremony a breakfast was served to 20 guests at the bride's home. Later the couple left for a wedding trip through the Smoky mountains. After Sept. 15 they will be at home in St. Marys.

Social Club Has Party At Mrs. Yoha's Home

Mrs. Ora Yoha entertained members of the Woodville Social club at her home yesterday with the assistance of Mrs. Alice Cashell. There were 26 members and two guests, Mrs. Alma Esselburn and Mrs. Jack Yoha, present. Bunco was played and prizes were won by Mrs. W. L. Beam, Mrs. Eva Swisher and Mrs. Jack Yoha.

A gift of flowers was presented to Mrs. G. W. Perry who was observing her 41st wedding anniversary. Plans were made to have a poke lunch at the roadside park on the Wooster road Sept. 18. The next regular meeting will be held Oct 4 with the Misses Ida, Dessie and Faye Swisher

Fete Member Leaving For California Home

When members of Sigma Kappa Gamma sorority met at the home of Miss Dorothy Kelly on Rhein avenue yesterday evening, they surprised Miss Louise Scott with a farewell party. Miss Marjorie Drake was associate hostess for the affair honoring Miss Scott, who is leaving soon to make her home in San Francisco, Cal.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"I forget nothing," Lillian retorted, neither Olga's presence here, nor Phil's devotion to her.

"His spirit, I grant you, is willing," she went on, again investing her words with a preternatural solemnity calculated to elicit gurgles from the gloomiest of mortals, "but his aging flesh is weak. I move that we go into a committee of the whole to see if we can't evolve some scheme for parking our dear Felipe in a room, no matter how small, where he can be alone, and invite in peace that slightly moth-eaten article he calls his soul."

Katherine threw up her head in challenge as Lillian finished her vitriolic comment.

"Rein in your ponies and don't let them go over the cliff!" she adjured us.

"Their fore feet are already high in the air," Lillian retorted. "But why pick on the Shetlands?"

"I think I have it," Katherine returned, wrinkling her nose at Lillian's gibes.

"Spill it then!" Lillian urged. "The sooner we figure out where we can park old Phil while the siege lasts, the sooner Madge can draw her breath again."

She turned to me with dancing eyes.

"As I see it, darling," she said, "this last prospect of having to shelter the great impressario during this mix-up is the proverbial last straw, or feather, or what have you, nestling between the hums of the dromedary."

I flashed a grateful look at Katherine.

"It was," I said, emphasizing the verb, "but I'm not worrying about it any longer. I'm leaning heavily on Katrina."

"Lean as hard as you like," Katherine said confidently. "I'm sure this scheme is fool-proof."

"I know it is if you evolved it," I told her, and Lillian gave an impatient snort.

"Don't mind me," she said "But after I expire of ungratified curiosity, I do hope you two worthies will give my poor bones a decent burial."

"We'll plant you properly," Katherine said, and then put a query to me.

"Isn't it your plan," she said, "to park Ede, with Miss Whitlock to take care of her, in your little study off this library?"

"Yes, it is," I answered "For each night. I suppose in the daytime—"

My voice trailed off and I looked at Katherine with sudden comprehension for her scheme in my eyes.

Katherine regarded me quizzically, and Lillian clapped her hands softly as she too, saw our friend's little scheme.

"Your supposition is erroneous, my dear," she drawled, "or I'll eat my best chapeau with mustard dressing. And I think both you and Lil see what I'm getting at."

"We have a faint glimmering," Lillian told her.

"If Miss Whitlock is as good a nurse as I think she is," Katherine went on, ignoring the interruption, "she isn't going to drag Ede from one floor to another every night and every morning. She'll make her stay put once she gets her down there whether Ede fancies the arrangement, or kick against it."

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, September 8.

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds promise of very lively conditions, with the pursuit of advanced goals spurring to clever use of highly stimulated intellectual and creative faculties.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate an exceedingly lively enterprising and productive year with much energy, talent and ambition directed to capturing high goals and cherished ambitions.

A child born on this day may be extremely talented and ambitious, with high aims and aspirations, in securing which it may be defeated by its own over-expansive, high-powered and too talkative efforts.

For Monday, September 9.

Monday's astrological forecast, judging by the lunar transits, is a rather adverse one. There are indications of pitfalls, traps, intrigues and various phases of duplicity, misconstructions and self-undoing. In all activities use prudence, caution.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of subtle dangers, deception, betrayal and clever intrigues unless they keep alert to all manner of traps and secret machinations.

A child born on this day, although having a bright mind, brevd and clever, keen insight and quick intuitions, yet may be carried into schemes and intrigues reflecting on its integrity. Its education should be supervised.

Reveals Marriage At Annual Picnic

When the girl employes of the boxing department at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company held their annual picnic dinner at North Lake park Thursday evening, they were surprised to learn of the recent marriage of one of their members, Miss Bertha Rinehart, to Henry W. Middleton.

The announcement, bearing the names of the couple and the wedding date, July 5, was concealed between the layers of cake. The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Gene Phillips, pastor of the Nazarene church in Ashland, Ky., who was a former schoolmate of the bridegroom.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Middleton are employed at the Tire company, and they are now at home to friends at 283 Buckley avenue. The couple took a trip to Charleston, W. Va., after the wedding.

Guest Attends First Fall Session Of Club

Fifteen members of the Neighborhood Bible club and one guest, Mrs. Hattie Dirham of Santa Barbara, Cal., were present for that organization's first meeting of the fall season yesterday. Mrs. C. H. Henkel was hostess for a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Women's club.

Mrs. George Hoover conducted the business, and Mrs. R. E. McCombs read the devotions. The study lesson was in charge of Mrs. E. Ray Jenkins. Mrs. J. R. Turner has invited the group to her home, 136 Rae avenue, for the next meeting, Sept. 20.

Hostesses Give Series of Parties For Doris Betz

In honor of Miss Doris Betz who is exchanging her nuptial vows with Richard Armstrong at the St. Matthew's Lutheran church this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, a series of parties has been given this week. The final affair was a spinster dinner Thursday evening at the Susie Janis home with Miss Janie Bond, Sherman avenue, entertaining at her home following the dinner.

The guests gave Miss Betz a personal shower, and a bride's book was made during the evening. Thursday morning Miss Mariann Stander, Marion avenue, entertained with a breakfast for the honoree.

Other parties included a bridge Wednesday evening at the Western avenue home of Miss Virginia Moorhead. Miss Betz was the winner of both prizes. Tuesday evening Miss Jeanne Boals gave a miscellaneous shower at her home on Highland avenue. The bridge winners were the Misses Caroline Woltmann, Betz and Moorhead. All awards were presented to the honoree.

I'LL WAIT FOR YOU + + +

CHAPTER XII

Mr. Alexander was not in, the clerk in the huge apartment house informed Edwina. Looking disappointed and very appealing, she said she was certain that Mr. Alexander had been detained, that he was expecting her and that she would wait for him in his apartment. The clerk hesitated, but a few moments later she stepped into precisely the kind of apartment in which she knew Norman would live, a spacious, modern, masculine place with good books and good pictures. It was divinely quiet and cool.

Throwing off the short white silk coat, she sat on the broad divan and nervously lighted a cigaret. This was the perfect setting, she was looking her best and she and Norman would soon be together. Only for Alan had she plotted; she had walked out on the plots of other men some of whom were in love with her, while others wanted to marry her for her money. And though she felt like a thief and liar, she told herself that she was fighting for her existence and to keep the house that Patrick Burke had loved and treasured far more than he had loved and treasured his name on stores and banks and factories. And only Norman could help her if he married her. Only Norman . . .

When he came, looking tired and warm and preoccupied, she sat very still, the smoke sifting through her fingers, and thought how handsome he was and wished wildly that she could love him. It frightened her when she realized that she could never be in love with any one again and that, at twenty-three, she felt a century old.

He frowned, then chuckled and the frown that had drawn his arched, dark brows together disappeared.

"Well!"

Edwina said brightly, "I had to be dressed early to see some people so I thought I'd save you the trouble of coming for me. You see how thoughtful I am! My friends were coming up this way and dropped me off. Besides, I wanted to see where you live. I like it. It's like you—in very good taste."

He came toward her, took a cigaret and lighted it.

"You're looking very lovely, Edwina."

"Am I? There are other ways of saying it, darling." She sat back and looked up at him. "You'll have to dress. I'll wait. But please don't be long."

* * *

He was not long. In a short time he came back into the room, a seemingly taller and more distinguished Norman in dinner clothes. And he came back quite good-humored, saying, "I suppose you're starving," and reached for her white coat and held it for her. Moving closer, keeping his hands on her shoulders, she turned and looked up.

"You look as if you have a lot on your mind, Norman. Why not put me on your mind instead? I wouldn't be a very weighty problem."

His mouth curved. "Burnie-burnie . . . I never let myself forget for a minute that you're the dynamic, dangerous Edwina Burke . . ."

"Must you—before you think of me as anything else, as some one rather special?"

He held her off and looked at her, his eyes more serious than she believed they could be, the deep frown drawing his brows together again. "I've thought of you as a girl who knew the answers and who could play any game well."

"The game between men and women, you mean? The never-ending guessing game? I know that, too, but let's not play that one." Her hands crept up to his shoulders. "Think of me what you will. Believe of me what you will. But why don't you kiss me?"

"Yes, why don't I? Edwina why don't I? If I'm going to do any kissing this summer, it will be with you."

* * *

She closed her eyes for his kiss, unaware of a sharpness akin to bitterness in his voice. Then, taking her hands away from his shoulders, she smiled at him, patted her black hair in place, and walked slowly to the door. It had been so simple, really so simple . . . When he opened the door and she stepped into the quiet, deeply carpeted hall, she caught a glimpse of her face in a small mirror. It was a face touched with triumph.

On a hotel roof they dined and danced, her lightheartedness and her steady flow of talk keeping him diverted from some business problem, she thought, which from time to time drew his thoughts away from the large dimly-lighted room, the mellow music and her. Giving him her full attention, she did not know if there was any one there she knew and she did not permit her glance to wander for fear some convivial former acquaintance would sever the closeness she felt with Norman.

"I was talking to Dick Fenton," he said. "He asked us to stop over at his place later tonight. He's having some people in and he said he'd like to see you."

Cupping her hands, Edwina said, smiling, "So you were talking about me . . ."

"He said you were the only girl who ever slapped his face and he had a great respect for you because of it. That was in your dancing-school days, I believe."

* * *

She laughed the low, throaty musical laugh. "Oh, yes. The little brat from the wrong side of town defending herself. I remember that day. It was just after we moved into the big house and my father wanted me to go to dancing school. My mother died when I was six, so the chauffeur took me and there I was, scared and haughty, knowing that I had more money than any of them and that they looked down on me. Dick said something particularly nasty and I put everything I felt in the slap I gave him. That was the beginning, only the beginning. I put up with a good bit of snobbery until people felt they couldn't afford to snub me." She thought: Funny how much he knows about me. But he doesn't know about Alan. He'd be disappointed in me, too, if he knew about that . . .

He smiled. "The fighting Burkes . . ."

"And still fighting. You fight first for money and recognition, and then for happiness. There's so much debris to clear away before you can be happy."

She saw his mouth twitch before he said, "Sometimes human debris . . ."

"Business worries, Norman?"

He sat back, smiling gently at her. "You don't want me to go serious and confidential on you, do you? Serious, with a bottle of champagne in a bucket next to us? Nothing doing. Let's finish it and go over to Dick's. He usually has a rare assortment of people plus the current girl friend. I think this time it's Cornelia Dolan, the actress."

"A good Irish name," Edwina said, holding up her glass for more champagne.

* * *

When they entered Dick's spacious, modern apartment half a dozen people were there. Dick, who had grown from an awkward boy with brown hair which grew porcupine fashion into an attractive successful young man, met them with sincere cordiality.

"Edwina!" he said, taking both her hands. "Lord, you make me homesick for Newton. I've never seen you look better."

When he shook hands with Norman, spoke to him and gave him an affectionate pat on the back, she knew what good friends they were.

Among Dick's guests were a refugee musician, a well-known publisher and his demure-looking wife, an advertising executive and Cornelia Dolan, her lovely red hair accentuated by a green dinner frock. Norman knew the publisher and his wife and soon was engaged in a spirited conversation with them while Dick, obviously delighted to see Edwina, followed her to the far corner of the room where a cold supper was waiting.

RAVENNA DOG TRACKS CLOSE DURING PROBE

Steubenville Mayor Declares He Will Not Yield to State Pressure.

(By Associated Press)

RAVENNA—The operating schedules of Portage county's two greyhound tracks call for racing "through Sept. 7" but an inquiring attorney-general and a demanding judge had them closed today ahead of schedule.

The establishments — at Lake Milton and Brimfield—failed to open yesterday after Common Pleas Judge Carl H. Curtiss summoned a special grand jury and supplied Sheriff Robert Fitzgerald with warrants ordering confiscation of pari-mutuel equipment. Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert asked the inquiry, naming two representatives to assist.

There was no activity at the Brimfield track, Fitzgerald said, when he arrived at the usual opening time last night. At Lake Milton a track employe told deputies his "boss," informed of the proceedings, decided "he better hadn't open."

Resistance to the "shut down" campaign loomed on a third front, however, as Steubenville's Democratic mayor, James T. Welsh, reported he would not submit to "pressure." The city official said Herbert threatened to seek his ouster should an effort be made to reopen a Steubenville track, now closed under an injunction obtained last June by Herbert Welsh. He said:

"I would not hesitate to institute action to remove the state's two highest officials from office if they put the pressure on me."

The Steubenville mayor said also he had informed Herbert—and Gov. John W. Bricker as well—that he never attended dog races, knew nothing of reported property transfers to circumvent the injunction, and had not been consulted when the restraining order was sought. He added he never had been informed by Herbert that pari-mutuel betting at dog races was illegal in Ohio.

THEATERS

Mystery and New Comedy.

A new kind of movie mystery is "Money and the Woman," starring Jeffrey Lynn and Brenda Marshall, which began today at the Madison. It has been adapted from the novel by James M. Cain. The co-feature is the brand-new musical comedy, "Argentine Nights," co-starring the three Ritz brothers and the three Andrew sisters. Brooklyn jitter-bug technique and the South American conga are combined in a new dance creation in this picture.

* * *

Gay Romance.

The delightfully gay romance that stems from the chance winning of a sweepstakes prize by a Greenwich village girl and a handsome artist provides the exciting basis of "Lucky Partners" which is showing at the Ohio. Co-starring Ronald Colman and Ginger Rogers the film deals with the riotous experiences of a bookshop girl, engaged to a smug insurance salesman, who falls in love with a strange artist.

* * *

Pulitzer Prize Play.

Telling the story of one period in the life of the real Abraham Lincoln as it never has been told before, the screen version of Robert E. Sherwood's Pulitzer prize play, "Abe Lincoln In Illinois" opens at the Park Sunday. Raymond Massey, star of the stage play, is seen in the title role. The co-feature is "Sing, Dance, Plenty Hot," starring Ruth Terry and Johnny Downs.

* * *

Two Big Bills.

Pomp and splendor, romance and a thundering cavalcade of the collapse of an empire, are blended in "Florian," dramatic filmization of the Salten novel of the fall of the Hapsburg dynasty in Austria following the World war. Robert Young and Helen Gilbert have the leads. The second attraction is "Torrid Zone," starring James Cagney and Ann Sheridan.

First, he said, although the farmer is forced to buy in a protected market and sell in an unprotected market, immediate removal of tariff barriers would bring "economic and financial chaos."

Second, he continued, every effort should be made to increase foreign markets when the European war ends.

His third contention was that fixed valuation of land provides an unsatisfactory base for farm taxes. A preferable system, he suggested, would be based on farm income, allowing farmers to pay lower taxes in bad years.

Contending that farm income is related directly to industrial employment, Willkie proposed as his fourth point a "wise and just administration" of present laws in order to stimulate industry and give workers greater purchasing power.

Indians Back Home To Tackle White Sox

Detroit Pounds Three Hurlers In Marking Up Easy 10-5 Win.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — Cleveland's hapless Indians, the "two-gun, no-bullet" boys of the American league, returned to the home reservation today from a five-game rush downhill and found a civic reception awaiting.

* * *

Smarting under their fifth straight defeat, a 10 to 5 stampede at Detroit yesterday, they were hailed at Union Terminal by a "come-to-Cleveland" committee claiming some 20,000 spirited backers. Topping the program was an official appeal for the pennant from Mayor Harold H. Burton.

* * *

In quest of this important bunting, dangling less near each day this week, the Tribesmen made ready to take on the Chicago White Sox. One game alone separated them from second place Detroit, who showed virtually no respect for Indian strategy, planned secretly without the knowledge of Manager Oscar Vitt, in capturing yesterday's contest.

A 14-hit attack provided the Tiger victory, eight coming off Johnny Allen who yielded four runs before retiring in the fourth inning. Al Milnar, who succeeded him, became the victim of a renewed assault, giving up four more in the fifth. Two runs off a third Indian hurler, Mike Naymick, completed the debacle.

The Indians' scoring included two runs in the opening frame, Boudreau rapping out a single off Buck Newsom and rounded the bases from first on Roy Weatherly's double to left center. Advancing by means of a fumble, the outfielder scored on an infield grounder.

Nominated for mound duty in today's series opener against Chicago was Mel Harder, seeking his 10th victory against as many losses. His opponent, the Sox announced, would be bespectacled Bill Dietrich, who has won seven decisions and dropped five.

* * *

The latest word on the Indians' internal affairs had Ol' Oscar still the boss today, assured of President Alva Bradley's "full co-operation as manager of the club and my support in any action." The club executive's statement, issued last night, also expressed confidence the team would win the pennant.

* * *

Bantamweights Hold Scrimmage Session

Coach Hank Richards will send his Mansfield Bantamweight gridders through their first official scrimmage of the season at 9 a. m. Sunday at Davey field. It will mark the opening of daily scrimmages which will be held at the field at 6 p. m. every day. The Mansfield club launches their season against the Cleveland Skippies at Cleveland, Sept. 18.

Tyger Season Football Ticket Books Placed On Sale Today

MANSFIELD Senior high officials today placed Tyger football season ticket books on sale at downtown stores. All seats at the night games at Stadium field will be reserved and officials requests those wishing to buy the books to secure them at once for best seats.

The books, which will admit the bearer to five home games at $2.50 are valued at $3.00, and are expected to go fast. They may be purchased at Tawse drug store; Yuncker Sports store, Mansfield Athletic Supply, Brown's drug store and the Senior high school.

With the opening game less than two weeks away—the Tygers meet Akron West in the initial floodlight game Friday, Sept. 13—officials today predicted a sellout. The books will sell for $2.50 if they are purchased in advance.

The Tygers meet Akron, Cambridge, Elyria, New Philadelphia and Massillon at Stadium field this fall. Night tilts start at 8 p. m.

Derringer Faces Chicago As Reds Open 22-Game Road Trip

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds came pretty close to feeling like they didn't have a worry in the world as they faced the Chicago Cubs today in the first of a 22-game tour of the major circuit.

* * *

With a solid seven-game lead and apparently recovered from their August slump, the Rhinelanders expected to clinch the National League pennant this trip.

* * *

Paul Derringer, the cool curve-ball artist who has 18 victories to his credit this season, was matched against the Cubs Charley Root. The Reds will play a double header Tuesday and a single game Wednesday in Boston, after meeting Chicago again tomorrow.

It didn't really matter where they take the flag, Rhinelanders decided, but there was an idea that nothing would satisfy the Reds more than winning the race in Brooklyn. After meeting Boston they will play three games with New York and then meet the Dodgers. The Reds and the second-place flatbush gang have made the national league race a two-team affair practically all season.

Both clubs have less than 25 games left to play and according to the baseball David Harums that doesn't give the Dodgers any more than an outside chance, but they are still in the running and there was that possibility that they might come out on top.

The Reds had a number of things to be jubilant about. Johnny Vander Meer, the 1938 no-hit, no-run king, was back from his Elba in Indianapolis and in his first trip to the mound after donning a Cincinnati uniform Vandy pitched his mates to a 6-3 victory over Pittsburgh.

The acquisition of Jimmy Ripple from Montreal has been just about what the doctor ordered with his timely hitting. Mike McCormick has been on a batting rampage. Frank McCormick leads the league with 112 runs batted in.

Robert (Lefty) Logan, with Indianapolis of the American Association, a Cincinnati club affiliate, was purchased by the Reds yesterday for spring delivery. Logan, who has won 17 games for a second division club, has walked only 65 batters in 231 innings.

Only 4 Games Separating Indians From Boston Red Sox

(By Associated Press)

IF things don't get better for the Cleveland Indians pretty soon, they may have to include Manager Oscar Vitt in their board-of-strategy meetings.

* * *

After losing four straight—and giving the Tigers, Yankees and Red Sox renewed pennant hopes, the players decided to leave Vitt out of the meeting before the crucial third game of the series with Detroit yesterday. The 10-5 Detroit victory was the fifth straight setback for the jittery league leaders.

* * *

The American league pennant chase is badly scrambled with only four games separating the first place Tribesmen from the fourth place Boston Red Sox. Detroit, by its victory, took over second place from the New York Yankees who ran into a snag in the person of left-handed Ken Chase of the Washington Senators and lost 3-1.

The Yankee express for pennantville got sidetracked yesterday, also—but by a good pitching performance. Ken Chase scattered eight hits and Gee Gee Walker contributed a pair of homers. The Yanks were blanked until the ninth.

The fifth place Chicago White Sox sent Johnny Rigney to the mound in quest of his 13th victory and he responded with a four-hit performance good for a 6-3 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

In the National league, the Brooklyn Dodgers good pitching from Freddie Fitzsimmons and Hugh Casey and some fine hitting from Ducky Medwick to win both ends of a double bill from the Phillies 3-0, 14-3. That cut the distance between the Brooks and the idle Cincy Reds to seven games.

* * *

The only other game scheduled in the league saw Lefty Clyde Shoun of the Cards settle down after a shaky start and blank the Cubs in the last seven frames for a 6-4 decision.

SPORTS GOSSIP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK — (AP) — Week's Wash: Have Bill M'Kechnie and Jimmy Dykes already turned down offers to manage Cleveland next year, as one New York newspaper reports? . . . When Freddy Fitzsimmons was run out of the game the other day (first time in Freddy's long career) he cried like a baby in the clubhouse. . . . Jimmy Foxx, who's getting 30 grand, is going to demand a raise if they want Jim to keep on catching next year.

Mansfield Merchants Advance In Softball Tourney at Detroit

DETERMINED to bring Mansfield its first national softball title, the Mansfield Merchants girls' team squared off today against another Ohio team, the H. H. Myers club of Cincinnati, in a quarter finals match of the world's softball tournament now in progress at Detroit.

* * *

The Merchants reached the quarter final round yesterday by taking two contests. In their opening tilt the Merchants defeated the North Carolina champions, 7 to 4, and in their second contest took over the Florida champions by a score of 4 to 3.

Both the Merchants and the Cincinnati club captured two games in their first day of play as did the Toledo Page Dairies, men's Ohio titleholders.

Smashing four tallies in the initial frame, the Merchants had little trouble in turning back the North Carolina team. Frances Clark was on the hill for the winners and limited the Raleigh outfit to five bingles.

After taking the advantage, the Merchants added a run in the third to grab a 5-0 lead before the losers could score. North Carolina scored a run in the fourth, two in the fifth and another in the sixth. Meanwhile, Mansfield added two runs in the fifth. Holda paced the Mansfielders with three hits, while Donna Schuster added a pair of singles to the 11-hit attack.

In other contests in yesterday's play, the Eastern Hills Merchants of Cincinnati, another Buckeye entry was eliminated by Macon, Ga., 3 to 0. In the men's field, Ralph Solt pitched the Page Dairies to a 2 to 0 whitewash over the North Carolina winners, allowing two hits.

Knurek hurled the second Page triumph, beating the Pennsylvania entry 8 to 1. He yielded one hit.

* * *

Tournament quarter finals are slated for this afternoon and semi-finals Sunday night.

Braves Bow To Fremont In Loop Tilt

Drop 2 to 1 Decision; Club Plays at Home.

Mansfield's Braves again dropped below the 500 per cent mark in the Ohio State League standing last night when they were nosed out by the Fremont Green Sox, 2 to 1, in a tilt played at Fremont.

* * *

The 1940 Ohio State league season comes to a close tomorrow with the Braves playing their final two games at home.

* * *

They meet the Lima Pandas at the Fairground at 8:30 p. m. today, and tangle with the second place Findlay Oilers at 3 p. m. Sunday at the Fairground in their last league contest.

At Fremont last night both teams battled on fairly even terms for seven innings, with the Green Sox finally winning out. The teams were tied at one run apiece until the sixth inning when Fremont scored their final and winning talley.

Both teams scored their first run in the second frame, and then went scoreless until Fremont broke the tie in the sixth.

* * *

The Braves were held to four hits by Schild, two of these were collected by Morse, third baseman, who drove in Mansfield's only run.

* * *

Snyder, who worked on the mound for the Braves, gave up six safeties. Schild and Manager Luke Sewell getting four of the six.

Out To Annex Playoff Title

Meet Youngstown In First Game of Loop Series.

AKRON — (AP) — The Akron Yankees, 1940 pennant winners of the Mid-Atlantic league, set out today to duplicate the feat of champions who in 1938 and 1839 took both the flag and the Shaughnessy playoffs.

* * *

The Yankees, who won 73 and lost 54 games in annexing the crown, entertain third-place Youngstown here under the lights while Charlestown's second placers take on Dayton in the West Virginia Capital in playoff openers.

* * *

Last year Canton won the championship and went on to clinch the playoff. In 1938 Portsmouth turned the same trick.

This season neither Canton, which finished fifth, nor cellar-dwelling Portsmouth could make the playoffs.

* * *

The leaders were bunched, Youngstown yielding second place to Charlestown as the result of a double defeat by Akron as the regular season closed Thursday.

* * *

The eliminations are three-out-of-five games affairs with finalists going on to a four-out-of-seven test to determine the playoff winner.

Doubtful About Net Champion

Fans Can't Pick Between Riggs and McNeill.

NEW YORK—(AP)—In the national championships at Forest Hills there is some doubt whether the 1940 men's champion will be Bobby Riggs or Don McNeill, the hopeful from Oklahoma. Anyhow, enough doubt to keep the gallery guessing.

* * *

Jack Kramer, an unranked youngster from the coast, furnished the best upset to date in the men's division by beating Frankie Parker in a hot five-setter, 1-6, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4.

* * *

The day before he had eliminated Henry Prusoff from Seattle, so he is full of surprises. But tomorrow he encounters Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, the tournament's co-favorite. That should be the last of young Kramer for 1940.

McNeill yesterday overcame a stubborn foe in eliminating Elwood Cooke, 9-7, 6-0, 4-6, 6-3. Cooke was very determined and was hot as a Mexican pepper for the first set [illegible] one-sided.

The semi-final round was to be completed today, with Riggs playing Ted Schroeder and Frank Kovacs meeting Joe Hunt in the quarter-finals.

NEW YORK—Billy Conn is one step nearer his coveted match with Joe Louis today, but most of the 14,448 fans who saw him knock out Bob Pastor in the 13th round at Madison Square Garden last night are convinced it would be a goose step if the 174-pound Pittsburgher took it now.

* * *

Even Johnny Ray, Conn's manager who has been sprouting wrinkles in recent weeks fretting over Billy's physical well-being, refused today to commit himself as to whether he would accept a heavyweight title match. He insists it has not been offered.

* * *

It wasn't that the sharpshooting lightheavyweight champ failed to win decisively over the man who stayed a total of 21 rounds with Louis. The general idea was that Conn is very good, but there still isn't enough of him.

Pastor today was nursing a badly bruised torso and his astute little pilot, Jimmy Johnston, was bellowing "foul."

"The low punches took the life out of Bob," Johnston charged. "Why even the referee admits the last punch of the fight was foul."

The Associated Press score card gave Conn eight of the 12 rounds before the knockout, and two of those—the eighth and 12th—were gifts because of Conn's wayward punches.

* * *

As early as the fourth round Conn had Pastor wheezing from body punches, and by the seventh Pastor seemed a body-weary old man. In the eighth Conn doubled him up with a midsection shot.

* * *

The end came after 2:54 of the 13th and it came with a barrage of body blows, Pastor folding over like a sack of oats at the final punch.

Group Debates Football Issue

Discusses Possibility of Annual Bowl Game.

CHICAGO — (AP) — The faculty committee of the western conference debated today whether to make the Rose Bowl football game just an annual family affair between the Big Ten and the Pacific Coast conference.

* * *

A week ago athletic directors of the conference recommended that the faculty committee which has the last word, sanctioned such an arrangement permitting the annual Jan. 1 post-season clash with the west coast.

* * *

A majority vote of the 10-man faculty committee is all that's necessary to carry the question. However, if the vote is less than unanimous, the matter must be left open for 60 days for possible protests from member schools. Two months later another vote would be taken.

Red Birds Are Red Hot Now; Triumph Again

Columbus Team Marks Up 27 Wins In Last 35 League Contests.

(By Associated Press)

It looks as if the Columbus Red Birds started a little late, but they've still got time to give league-leading Kansas City a good scare.

* * *

Since July 28 Columbus has lost only eight games while winning 35.

* * *

"What's six games to a determined outfit like mine?" Manager Burt Shotton demanded recently when his club was six games out. "My boys know what our pitching staff is capable of doing. That's why we're apt to pass the Blues before the season ends Sept. 15."

Tom Sunkel pitched the Birds to a 1 to 0 victory over Indianapolis last night. Walker Cooper's double scoring Harry Walker with the game's only run in the eighth inning.

Outside of this one flurry, Bob Logan, southpaw recently sold to Cincinnati, had the Birds helpless, allowing only six hits all the way.

Minneapolis cooperated with Columbus by defeating Kansas City twice, 9 to 7 and 8 to 0. The Blues used five pitchers in the opener.

* * *

Milwaukee, although handicapped by six errors, battled to a 10 to 9 victory over St. Paul in 12 innings.

* * *

Toledo defeated Louisville, 6 to 3, clinching the game with three runs in the eighth after tying the score in the seventh.

RAVENNA DOG TRACKS CLOSE DURING PROBE

Steubenville Mayor Declares He Will Not Yield to State Pressure.

(By Associated Press)

RAVENNA—The operating schedules of Portage county's two greyhound tracks call for racing "through Sept. 7" but an inquiring attorney-general and a demanding judge had them closed today ahead of schedule.

The establishments — at Lake Milton and Brimfield—failed to open yesterday after Common Pleas Judge Carl H. Curtiss summoned a special grand jury and supplied Sheriff Robert Fitzgerald with warrants ordering confiscation of pari-mutuel equipment. Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert asked the inquiry, naming two representatives to assist.

There was no activity at the Brimfield track, Fitzgerald said, when he arrived at the usual opening time last night. At Lake Milton a track employe told deputies his "boss," informed of the proceedings, decided "he better hadn't open."

Resistance to the "shut down" campaign loomed on a third front, however, as Steubenville's Democratic mayor, James T. Welsh, reported he would not submit to "pressure." The city official said Herbert threatened to seek his ouster should an effort be made to reopen a Steubenville track, now closed under an injunction obtained last June by Herbert Welsh. He said:

"I would not hesitate to institute action to remove the state's two highest officials from office if they put the pressure on me."

The Steubenville mayor said also he had informed Herbert—and Gov. John W. Bricker as well—that he never attended dog races, knew nothing of reported property transfers to circumvent the injunction, and had not been consulted when the restraining order was sought. He added he never had been informed by Herbert that pari-mutuel betting at dog races was illegal in Ohio.

THEATERS

Mystery and New Comedy.

A new kind of movie mystery is "Money and the Woman," starring Jeffrey Lynn and Brenda Marshall, which began today at the Madison. It has been adapted from the novel by James M. Cain. The co-feature is the brand-new musical comedy, "Argentine Nights," co-starring the three Ritz brothers and the three Andrew sisters. Brooklyn jitter-bug technique and the South American conga are combined in a new dance creation in this picture.

* * *

Gay Romance.

The delightfully gay romance that stems from the chance winning of a sweepstakes prize by a Greenwich village girl and a handsome artist provides the exciting basis of "Lucky Partners" which is showing at the Ohio. Co-starring Ronald Colman and Ginger Rogers the film deals with the riotous experiences of a bookshop girl, engaged to a smug insurance salesman, who falls in love with a strange artist.

First, he said, although the farmer is forced to buy in a protected market and sell in an unprotected market, immediate removal of tariff barriers would bring "economic and financial chaos."

Second, he continued, every effort should be made to increase foreign markets when the European war ends.

His third contention was that fixed valuation of land provides an unsatisfactory base for farm taxes. A preferable system, he suggested, would be based on farm income, allowing farmers to pay lower taxes in bad years.

Contending that farm income is related directly to industrial employment, Willkie proposed as his fourth point a "wise and just administration" of present laws in order to stimulate industry and give workers greater purchasing power.

The candidate reiterated his belief that soil conservation payments should be continued.

Indians Back Home To Tackle White Sox

Detroit Pounds Three Hurlers In Marking Up Easy 10-5 Win.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — Cleveland's hapless Indians, the "two-gun, no-bullet" boys of the American league, returned to the home reservation today from a five-game rush downhill and found a civic reception awaiting.

* * *

Smarting under their fifth straight defeat, a 10 to 5 stampede at Detroit yesterday, they were hailed at Union Terminal by a "come-to-Cleveland" committee claiming some 20,000 spirited backers. Topping the program was an official appeal for the pennant from Mayor Harold H. Burton.

* * *

In quest of this important bunting, dangling less near each day this week, the Tribesmen made ready to take on the Chicago White Sox. One game alone separated them from second place Detroit, who showed virtually no respect for Indian strategy, planned secretly without the knowledge of Manager Oscar Vitt, in capturing yesterday's contest.

A 14-hit attack provided the Tiger victory, eight coming off Johnny Allen who yielded four runs before retiring in the fourth inning. Al Milnar, who succeeded him, became the victim of a renewed assault, giving up four more in the fifth. Two runs off a third Indian hurler, Mike Naymick, completed the debacle.

The Indians' scoring included two runs in the opening frame, Boudreau rapping out a single off Buck Newsom and rounded the bases from first on Roy Weatherly's double to left center. Advancing by means of a fumble, the outfielder scored on an infield grounder.

Nominated for mound duty in today's series opener against Chicago was Mel Harder, seeking his 10th victory against as many losses. His opponent, the Sox announced, would be bespectacled Bill Dietrich, who has won seven decisions and dropped five.

* * *

The latest word on the Indians' internal affairs had Ol' Oscar still the boss today, assured of President Alva Bradley's "full co-operation as manager of the club and my support in any action." The club executive's statement, issued last night, also expressed confidence the team would win the pennant.

* * *

Bantamweights Hold Scrimmage Session

Coach Hank Richards will send his Mansfield Bantamweight gridders through their first official scrimmage of the season at 9 a. m. Sunday at Davey field. It will mark the opening of daily scrimmages which will be held at the field at 6 p. m. every day. The Mansfield club launches their season against the Cleveland Skippies at Cleveland, Sept. 18.

Tyger Season Football Ticket Books Placed On Sale Today

MANSFIELD Senior high officials today placed Tyger football season ticket books on sale at downtown stores. All seats at the night games at Stadium field will be reserved and officials requests those wishing to buy the books to secure them at once for best seats.

The books, which will admit the bearer to five home games at $2.50 are valued at $3.00, and are expected to go fast. They may be purchased at Tawse drug store; Yuncker Sports store, Mansfield Athletic Supply, Brown's drug store and the Senior high school.

With the opening game less than two weeks away—the Tygers meet Akron West in the initial floodlight game Friday, Sept. 13—officials today predicted a sellout. The books will sell for $2.50 if they are purchased in advance.

The Tygers meet Akron, Cambridge, Elyria, New Philadelphia and Massillon at Stadium field this fall. Night tilts start at 8 p. m.

Derringer Faces Chicago As Reds Open 22-Game Road Trip

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds came pretty close to feeling like they didn't have a worry in the world as they faced the Chicago Cubs today in the first of a 22-game tour of the major circuit.

* * *

With a solid seven-game lead and apparently recovered from their August slump, the Rhinelanders expected to clinch the National League pennant this trip.

* * *

Paul Derringer, the cool curveball artist who has 18 victories to his credit this season, was matched against the Cubs Charley Root. The Reds will play a double header Tuesday and a single game Wednesday in Boston, after meeting Chicago again tomorrow.

It didn't really matter where they take the flag, Rhinelanders decided, but there was an idea that nothing would satisfy the Reds more than winning the race in Brooklyn. After meeting Boston they will play three games with New York and then meet the Dodgers. The Reds and the second-place flatbush gang have made the national league race a two-team affair practically all season.

Both clubs have less than 25 games left to play and according to the baseball David Harums that doesn't give the Dodgers any more than an outside chance, but they are still in the running and there was that possibility that they might come out on top.

The Reds had a number of things to be jubilant about. Johnny Vander Meer, the 1938 no-hit, no-run king, was back from his Elba in Indianapolis and in his first trip to the mound after donning a Cincinnati uniform Vandy pitched his mates to a 6-3 victory over Pittsburgh.

The acquisition of Jimmy Ripple from Montreal has been just about what the doctor ordered with his timely hitting. Mike McCormick has been on a batting rampage. Frank McCormick leads the league with 112 runs batted in.

Robert (Lefty) Logan, with Indianapolis of the American Association, a Cincinnati club affiliate, was purchased by the Reds yesterday for spring delivery. Logan, who has won 17 games for a second division club, has walked only 65 batters in 231 innings.

Only 4 Games Separating Indians From Boston Red Sox

(By Associated Press)

IF things don't get better for the Cleveland Indians pretty soon, they may have to include Manager Oscar Vitt in their board-of-strategy meetings.

* * *

After losing four straight—and giving the Tigers, Yankees and Red Sox renewed pennant hopes, the players decided to leave Vitt out of the meeting before the crucial third game of the series with Detroit yesterday. The 10-5 Detroit victory was the fifth straight setback for the jittery league leaders.

* * *

The American league pennant chase is badly scrambled with only four games separating the first place Tribesmen from the fourth place Boston Red Sox. Detroit, by its victory, took over second place from the New York Yankees who ran into a snag in the person of left-handed Ken Chase of the Washington Senators and lost 3-1.

The Yankee express for pennantville got sidetracked yesterday, also—but by a good pitching performance. Ken Chase scattered eight hits and Gee Gee Walker contributed a pair of homers. The Yanks were blanked until the ninth.

The fifth place Chicago White Sox sent Johnny Rigney to the mound in quest of his 13th victory and he responded with a four-hit performance good for a 6-3 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

In the National league, the Brooklyn Dodgers good pitching from Freddie Fitzsimmons and Hugh Casey and some fine hitting from Ducky Medwick to win both ends of a double bill from the Phillies 3-0, 14-3. That cut the distance between the Brooks and the idle Cincy Reds to seven games.

* * *

The only other game scheduled in the league saw Lefty Clyde Shoun of the Cards settle down after a shaky start and blank the Cubs in the last seven frames for a 6-4 decision.

SPORTS GOSSIP

Mansfield Merchants Advance In Softball Tourney at Detroit

DETERMINED to bring Mansfield its first national softball title, the Mansfield Merchants girls' team squared off today against another Ohio team, the H. H. Myers club of Cincinnati, in a quarter finals match of the world's softball tournament now in progress at Detroit.

* * *

The Merchants reached the quarter final round yesterday by taking two contests. In their opening tilt the Merchants defeated the North Carolina champions, 7 to 4, and in their second contest took over the Florida champions by a score of 4 to 3.

Both the Merchants and the Cincinnati club captured two games in their first day of play as did the Toledo Page Dairies, men's Ohio titleholders.

Smashing four tallies in the initial frame, the Merchants had little trouble in turning back the North Carolina team. Frances Clark was on the hill for the winners and limited the Raleigh outfit to five bingles.

After taking the advantage, the Merchants added a run in the third to grab a 5-0 lead before the losers could score. North Carolina scored a run in the fourth, two in the fifth and another in the sixth. Meanwhile, Mansfield added two runs in the fifth. Holda paced the Mansfielders with three hits, while Donna Schuster added a pair of singles to the 11-hit attack.

In other contests in yesterday's play, the Eastern Hills Merchants of Cincinnati, another Buckeye entry was eliminated by Macon, Ga., 3 to 0. In the men's field, Ralph Solt pitched the Page Dairies to a 2 to 0 whitewash over the North Carolina winners, allowing two hits.

Knurek hurled the second Page triumph, beating the Pennsylvania entry 8 to 1. He yielded one hit.

* * *

Other Ohio team scores yesterday included, men—Atlanta 3, Cincinnati 2; women, Cleveland 1, Reading, Pa., 0, Cincinnati 5, Virginia 0, Cincinnati 2, Louisiana 1.

Tournament quarter finals are slated for this afternoon and semifinals Sunday night.

PLAY IN TOURNAMENT

SHELBY—Concluding the special tournaments this summer at the Shelby Country club, the annual medal cup golf tourney will be held Sunday with some 40 golfers from Mansfield and Shelby expected to take part. Ed Winnenger, last year's winner, and 1940 club champion and Dow Horner, twice winner of the event, are favorites of this year's event.

Doubtful About Net Champion

Fans Can't Pick Between Riggs and McNeill.

NEW YORK—(AP)—In the national championsips at Forest Hills there is some doubt whether the 1940 men's champion will be Bobby Riggs or Don McNeill, the hopeful from Oklahoma. Anyhow, enough doubt to keep the gallery guessing.

* * *

Jack Kramer, an unranked youngster from the coast, furnished the best upset to date in the men's division by beating Frankie Parker in a hot five-setter, 1-6, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4.

* * *

The day before, he had eliminated Henry Prusoff from Seattle, so he is full of surprises. But tomorrow he encounters Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, the tournament's co-favorite. That should be the last of young Kramer for 1940.

McNeill yesterday overcame a stubborn foe in eliminating Elwood Cooke, 9-7, 6-0, 4-6, 6-3. Cooke was very determined and was hot as a Mexican pepper for the first set, after which he subsided.

The semi-final round was to be completed today, with Riggs playing Ted Schroeder and Frank Kovacs meeting Joe Hunt in the quarter-finals

Heroes and Goats

(By International News Service)

HEROES—Gee Walker, Senators, who hit two home runs to give Washington a victory over New York. Joe Medwick, Dodgers, whose homer in the first game of a doubleheader with the Phillies enabled Freddie Fitzsimmons to annex his 13th victory.

GOATS—[illegible] Bell, Indians, who booted a grounder which helped the Tigers beat league-leading Cleveland for the third straight time. Charles Ruffing, Yankees, who threw two home run balls to Walker and batted into a double play to end a ninth-inning rally.

Conn Stops Pastor With Body Attack

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK—Billy Conn is one step nearer his coveted match with Joe Louis today, but most of the 14,448 fans who saw him knock out Bob Pastor in the 13th round at Madison Square Garden last night are convinced it would be a goose step if the 174-pound Pittsburgher took it now.

* * *

Even Johnny Ray, Conn's manager who has been sprouting wrinkles in recent weeks fretting over Billy's physical well-being, refused today to commit himself as to whether he would accept a heavyweight title match. He insists it has not been offered.

* * *

It wasn't that the sharpshooting lightheavyweight champ failed to win decisively over the man who stayed a total of 21 rounds with Louis. The general idea was that Conn is very good, but there still isn't enough of him.

Pastor today was nursing a badly bruised torso and his astute little pilot, Jimmy Johnston, was bellowing "foul."

"The low punches took the life out of Bob," Johnston charged. "Why even the referee admits the last punch of the fight was foul."

The Associated Press score card gave Conn eight of the 12 rounds before the knockout, and two of those—the eighth and 12th—were gifts because of Conn's wayward punches.

* * *

As early as the fourth round Conn had Pastor wheezing from body punches, and by the seventh Pastor seemed a body-weary old man. In the eighth Conn doubled him up with a midsection shot.

* * *

The end came after 2:54 of the 13th and it came with a barrage of body blows, Pastor folding over like a sack of oats at the final punch.

Braves Bow To Fremont In Loop Tilt

Drop 2 to 1 Decision; Club Plays at Home.

Mansfield's Braves again dropped below the 500 per cent mark in the Ohio State League standing last night when they were nosed out by the Fremont Green Sox, 2 to 1, in a tilt played at Fremont.

* * *

The 1940 Ohio State league season comes to a close tomorrow with the Braves playing their final two games at home.

* * *

They meet the Lima Pandas at the Fairground at 8:30 p. m. today, and tangle with the second place Findlay Oilers at 3 p. m. Sunday at the Fairground in their last league contest.

At Fremont last night both teams battled on fairly even terms for seven innings, with the Green Sox finally winning out. The teams were tied at one run apiece until the sixth inning when Fremont scored their final and winning talley.

Both teams scored their first run in the second frame, and then went scoreless until Fremont broke the tie in the sixth.

* * *

The Braves were held to four hits by Schild, two of these were collected by Morse, third baseman, who drove in Mansfield's only run.

* * *

Snyder, who worked on the mound for the Braves, gave up six safeties, Schild and Manager Luke Sewell getting four of the six.

The Yankees, who won 73 and lost 54 games in annexing the crown, entertain third-place Youngstown here under the lights while Charlestown's second placers take on Dayton in the West Virginia Capital in playoff openers.

* * *

Last year Canton won the championship and went on to clinch the playoff. In 1938 Portsmouth turned the same trick.

This season neither Canton, which finished fifth, nor cellar-dwelling Portsmouth could make the playoffs.

* * *

The leaders were bunched, Youngstown yielding second place to Charlestown as the result of a double defeat by Akron as the regular season closed Thursday.

* * *

The eliminations are three-out of-five games affairs with finalists going on to a four-out-of-seven test to determine the playoff winner.

Group Debates Football Issue

Discusses Possibility of Annual Bowl Game.

CHICAGO — (AP) — The faculty committee of the western conference debated today whether to make the Rose Bowl football game just an annual family affair between the Big Ten and the Pacific Coast conference.

* * *

A week ago athletic directors of the conference recommended that the faculty committee which has the last word, sanctioned such an arrangement permitting the annual Jan. 1 post-season clash with the west coast.

* * *

A majority vote of the 10-man faculty committee is all that's necessary to carry the question. However, if the vote is less than unanimous, the matter must be left open for 60 days for possible protests from member schools. Two months later another vote would be taken.

MERCHANTS PLAY SUNDAY

The Lucas Merchants baseball club will play New London at Lucas Sunday in a game scheduled for 2 p. m. Following the game members of both teams will attend a picnic at the Lucas Beagle club. The two clubs will be guests of the Beagle club at the picnic.

Red Birds Are Red Hot Now; Triumph Again

Columbus Team Marks Up 27 Wins In Last 35 League Contests.

(By Associated Press)

It looks as if the Columbus Red Birds started a little late, but they've still got time to give league-leading Kansas City a good scare.

* * *

Since July 28 Columbus has lost only eight games while winning 35.

* * *

"What's six games to a determined outfit like mine?" Manager Burt Shotton demanded recently when his club was six games out. "My boys know what our pitching staff is capable of doing. That's why we're apt to pass the Blues before the season ends Sept. 15."

Tom Sunkel pitched the Birds to a 1 to 0 victory over Indianapolis last night, Walker Cooper's double scoring Harry Walker with the game's only run in the eighth inning.

Outside of this one flurry, Bob Logan, southpaw recently sold to Cincinnati, had the Birds helpless, allowing only six hits all the way.

Minneapolis cooperated with Columbus by defeating Kansas City twice, 9 to 7 and 8 to 0. The Blues used five pitchers in the opener.

* * *

Milwaukee, although handicapped by six errors, battled to a 10 to 9 victory over St. Paul in 12 innings.

* * *

Toledo defeated Louisville, 6 to 3, clinching the game with three runs in the eighth after tying the score in the seventh.

DIZZY DEAN'S BACK AND PREDICTING AGAIN

CHICAGO—(INS)—Pitcher Dizzy Dean, back from a sojourn with Tulsa in the Texas league, today renewed contact with his Chicago Cub mates, and then issued a few predictions.

He predicted he will pitch for the Cubs and beat the Dodgers in Brooklyn next Tuesday; that he will win a couple or so more games yet this year, and that his sore arm trouble will be gone and he will be able to win a lot of games next year.

STOCKS FAIL TO REGAIN ANY GROUND TODAY

Market Steadies After a Mild Shift at Opening; Dealings At a Standstill.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market steadied today but, with few exceptions, failed to regain much of its former stride.

After a mild recovery shift at the opening, prices turned a shade irregular. Numerous issues never appeared on the ticker tape and a wide assortment sold at Friday's final quotations. Dealings frequently were at a standstill at the start of the closing hour.

Brokers thought profit taking on the recent upswing had been virtually completed. Buying timidly, however, was attributed to the desire of most traders to keep accounts light over the week-end pending further European war developments.

Aiding market sentiment was the survey of the federal reserve board disclosing department store sales throughout the nation, in the week ended Aug. 31, exceeded the comparable week last year by 10 per cent.

Widest year-to-year increases were registered in districts including Cleveland.

The board reported that its seasonally adjusted department store sales index touched 100 in August, compared with 91 for both June and July and 89 in August, 1939, and was at the highest point since 1931.

A favorable indicator was seen in the summary of the American Iron & Steel Institute showing ingot production in August was the third largest in the history of the industry.

TRUCK, SCHOOL BUS COLLIDE, 32 MISS DEATH

Trucker Jailed After Vehicle Hits Rear of Bus, Turning It Over on Side.

with the child and called Dr. Butner in Shiloh."

Charles Kirkwood, father of Elden, narrowly escaped serious injury when the truck swerved off the road and just missed the corner of the barn on the Kirkwood farm where Kirkwood was standing.

The truck mowed down about twenty feet of fence before it came to a halt in the ditch. The front end of the truck was smashed in and badly damaged.

When the crash occurred, Milligan immediately turned off the ignition in the bus to prevent fire.

The students were thrown into the aisle and jammed against the side of the bus. Many were piled on top of each other and wedged down between the seats.

The interior was a maelstrom of broken glass, lunch boxes, and torn books. Some of the seats were wrenched lose from the floor by the impact, pinning some of the children beneath.

Splinters of wood were strewn about the floor, and bits of torn clothing littered up the interior.

The emergency door in the rear of the bus was jammed and couldn't be opened and the other door was resting against the pavement where the bus lay on its side, Milligan said.

"The only way I could get them out was through the window beside the driver's seat. If the bus had caught fire, we would have all been burned to death."

After Milligan had pacified the screaming children as well as he could, he lifted them out of the bus one by one. Kirkwood and neighbors took the children from Milligan's arms.

"After they had once quieted down, they behaved remarkably well," Milligan said.

Kitchen Becomes 'Hospital'.

The injured were taken into the kitchen of the Kirkwood home, where they were treated by Dr. C. O. Butler, who arrived on the scene shortly after the accident.

Ambulances rushed some of the injured to the Ashland hospital and to General hospital. Others were taken to the homes of their parents by motorists.

Besides Billy Dean and James Neer, the injured were:

Eva Jean Hewberger, 10, R. D. 2, Shiloh, who was rushed to Ashland hospital with a back injury, but was released today following x-rays.

Franklin Poth, 8, R. D. Shiloh, eye bruise.

Shirley Ann Neer, 10, R. D. 2, Shiloh, cuts and bruises.

Elsie Lookabaugh, 7, R. D. 2, Shiloh, severe head cuts, and slight concussion. She was treated in General hospital.

Neither of the drivers of the two vehicles was injured.

Most of the children were pupils of Shenandoah grade school, Union grade school, and Olivesburg school.

Other occupants of the bus besides the driver and the injured were: James Oswalt, 15, R. D. 1, Mansfield; Robert Kissell, 16, R. D. 1, Mansfield; Ralph Berry, 15, R. D. 1, Mansfield; Dale Berry, 17, R. D. 1, Mansfield; Lois Berry, 18, R. D. 1, Mansfield; Paul Kissell, 13, R. D. 1, Mansfield; Carl Lookabaugh, 12, R. D. 2, Shiloh, Richard Lookabaugh, 12, R. They went to Philip Wilging, 616 Marion avenue, for a $4,000 home at 646 Sloane avenue; and to C. J. Burkhart, contractor, who will build a $1,500 residence at 135 Glenwood heights, and a $4,650 home at 131 Glenwood heights.

Commission Gets Request—The city planning commission today had before it a petition from property owners on Albert street requesting that the roadway be narrowed from 40 to 30 feet. Their communication states that the street is too close to foundations of their homes and that traffic on the street does not warrant the present width.

RELATES STORY OF BEDLAM IN SCHOOL BUS WRECKED BY TRUCK

down. Charles Kirkwood, father of the boy I had just let out, came running with a ladder which he placed next to the window."

Milligan then tried to determine who was the most seriously injured, so that he get them out first.

He walked back into the bus and lifted those who were bleeding or could not move and carried them to the front of the bus where he boosted them out the window into the arms of neighbors who had gathered at the scene.

"One by one I pushed them through the narrow window. The children seemed to be numb with terror and shock and were strangely quiet after the outburst of screaming," he said.

Milligan, despite his presence of mind and coolness, was visibly shaken by the accident. At times he found it difficult to talk.

Thought Some Were Dead.

"I thought sure that some of them were dead when I first looked back into the bus. Bodies seemed to be thrown every which way in a crazy tangle," he went on.

"The sight of blood on their white, drawn faces was enough to drive any one into a panic. I don't know how I ever kept my head as well as I did."

This was Milligan's first bad accident since he began driving a school bus some time ago.

"Finally I got the last child out and climbed out myself. The uninjured children stood around in groups looking at the bus as though it were all some wild nightmare. They didn't seem to realize what had happened," he said.

Milligan then went into the Kirkwood home where they had taken the nine injured children. He helped bandage and wash them.

When Dr. O. C. Butner of Shiloh arrived to take charge, Milligan and members of the Kirkwood family then helped to keep the children quiet until the ambulances arrived from Ashland and Shiloh.

WIERMAN NAMED

Assigned to Make Survey of Rocky Fork Channel.

Boyd Wierman, Mansfield engineer, had been employed today by the Mansfield Conservancy board to make a survey of the Rocky Fork channel through Mansfield and prepare an estimate of the cost of dredging the stream.

Assistants to help make the survey will be provided by the city and county. Wierman was asked to submit his figures by Oct. 1.

Preliminary plans call for dredging of the stream as a flood prevention measure from Longview avenue southeastward to a point near the Madison-Mifflin township line.

SIX AT LARGE

25 Arkansas Convicts Present Or 'Accounted For.'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(INS)—All but six of the thirty-six convicts who escaped from Cummins state prison farm, in Arkansas' biggest prison break, were accounted for today.

Those still at large, all of whom were serving terms for robbery or larceny, are:

Frank Wilson, 36; Seth Cato, 29; John Ross, 27; Jack Shaw, 25; Joe Miller, 28; and Willie E. Peck, 16. Wilson, who had served previous prison terms in Arizona and Oklahoma, was also convicted of kidnaping.

Three convicts were forced by hunger to surrender at McGhee, Ark., yesterday, and two others were captured during the day. Previously, twenty-one were captured and four were shot to death as posses scoured Arkansas and surrounding states.

VOTE ON DRAFT LOOMS TONIGHT

tration age to 55 was rejected by voice vote.

The other issue related to the geographical limits within which congress proposed to permit use of the conscript troops. The bill would allow President Roosevelt to send them anywhere in the western hemisphere and to the territories and possessions of the United States, including the Philippine islands.

Rep. Karl Mundt., R., S. D., proposed that the limit include only the continental United States and United States territories and possessions, except to repel or pursue invaders. This amendment was defeated 118 to 70.

Rep. Bruce Barton, R., N. Y., moved to strike out the Philippines as an area where conscript troops might be used, but this, too, was rejected.

The amendment relating to compulsory co-operation by industry, which will provide today's major fight, will revolve around two proposals.

One, drafted by Rep. J. Joseph Smith, D., Conn., and supported by the house military affairs committee, would adopt a world war law so that manufacturers would be forced to accept government defense orders under threat of stiff penalties, with the government authorized to take over and operate plants where the owners refused to comply—the government paying a "fair" rental.

Rep. Carl Vinson, D., Ga., has an alternative proposal quite similar in operation, but employing the services of the national defense advisory commission in negotiations with industry.

Leaders expected one or two other proposals to be adopted as a substitute for the senate's Russell - Overton amendment, which owuld permit the government to condemn plants needed for national defense and operate them while the courts were fixing compensation.

Other sections of the bill still to be considered include that seeking to protect the pay and seniority status of men drafted for military service and keep their jobs open when they get back; another providing five years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine for evading the draft or giving false information in connection with it; and the section fixing a five year limit on the compulsory training program.

One of the last acts of the house yesterday before adjournment was rejection of an amendment which would have made members of congress subject to the draft. The bill exempts them while they hold office.
